PLAN TO START ARMY RELEASES NEXT DECEMBER

System To Go Into Effect If International Situation Permits Action.

MOVE PROVES SURPRISE

Will Release Men on 3-Point Priority System Set Up By War Department.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—In a surprise move, the war department today announced that unless the United States becomes "more seriously involved in the international situation," it will begin releasing draftees and national guardsmen next December under a system calling for an average service of only 14 to 18 months.

In dependency cases where hardship can be shown, the release will be immediate, the department said.

The decision, coming on the heels of high-pressure administration drive for legislation to extend the total service to two and one-half years, was unexplained.

It means, said the department, that approximately 200,000 selectees, guardsmen and reserve officers who were inducted into service last November will be released on their own application "prior to December 10, 1941," and the releasing of men will continue indefinitely under a three-point priorities system allowing service men with dependents to drop out first.

President Roosevelt only yesterday signed the service extension bill and a second measure permitting the deferment of draft registrants 28 years and older.

The original draft act provided for one year of service. Decision of the war department to ask for an amendment to the law extending the service to two and a half years precipitated a storm in congress, the house barely approving the legislation last week by a one vote margin.

Whether the temper of congress had anything to do with today's

Taxpayers Rush To Pay Accounts Before Deadline

Real estate taxes poured into the Richland county treasurer's office today as property owners hastened to beat the deadline on tax collections which yesterday alone brought $62,735.05 into the office, according to John E. Kolb, county treasurer.

"We're going to have a good collection," Kolb said, "judging from the enormous amount of mail that came in today and the way tax payers flocked to the office."

Considerably less than $150,000 is now needed to meet the $600,000 that Kolb estimates will cover payments for the second half.

The deadline is set for Wednesday at 3:30 p. m. and payments made after that are subject to a penalty for delinquency.

Yesterday's receipts swelled the collection to $466,296,000 and this amount did not include collections from Shelby and other county villages.

U. S. Army Testing Blitzkrieg Technique In Maneuvers

Arkansas Action Reveals Weak Spot In River Crossing

By RICHARD C. HOTTELET
(UP Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE SECOND ARMY IN ARKANSAS — Officers say the new United States army has made wonderful progress in the eight months since mobilization started but in comparing it with the panzer forces of Hitler I can see that it still needs considerable polishing.

I was watching the 33rd and 35th divisions of infantry and the 60th Field Artillery brigade move across the Little Missouri river at night. A blackout had been imposed.

But I noted that the blackout was not anywhere near as complete as I had seen on numberless similar occasions with the German army even far behind the front.

Covered Wars—Now Cover War Games

The Second and Third armies of the United States, comprising 550,000 men, have started in the pine forests of Louisiana and Arkansas the greatest war maneuvers ever undertaken in this country.

The United Press has assigned Richard C. Hottelet and Leon Kay, veteran war correspondents just back from Europe, to report this great peace-time offensive. The background Hottelet attained while serving with the United Press in Germany and that Kay got while reporting the collapse of Yugoslavia will enable them to draw interesting contrasts between the actual technique of European armies at war and the United States army engaged in its biggest maneuvers.

Kay has been assigned to the Third army in Louisiana and Hottelet to the Second army in Arkansas.

Writer Finds Louisiana Tank Work Resembles Real Thing

By LEON KAY
(UP Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE THIRD ARMY IN LOUISIANA—The Third army is making its war maneuvers look so much like the real thing it's hard to believe I am not witnessing another blitzkrieg such as I saw when Germany moved into Yugoslavia.

Although the maneuvers are called war games they looked like anything but games as I watched light and medium tanks crashing amid clouds of red dust, through the pine woods of Louisiana with the crew manning the guns as if they actually were moving into enemy lines.

I never would have believed that maneuvers could be made to look so much like the real war I saw in Europe. Roadstained motor-

Report Violent Assaults Upon Black Sea Port

Russians Admit German-Finnish Pincer Closing on Leningrad; Hitler Army Claims 77,000 Soviets Taken; Moscow, Germany Bombed.

BULLETIN

MOSCOW — (INS) — Marshal Klementi Voroshilov, Soviet commander on the northern front, today reinforced defenses of Leningrad as German and Finnish-German forces reached points on the west and north only 75 miles from the second city of Russia.

(By Associated Press)

Adolf Hitler's high command reported today that German and allied troops had overrun all Ukraine territory west of the Dnieper river and announced violent new assaults against the siege-grit port of Odessa on the Black sea.

On the northern front, a Red army bulletin acknowledged that the jaws of a giant German-Finnish nutcracker were closing in on Leningrad, the old-time capital of the czars, with bitter fighting raging only 75 miles southwest of the city. The Nazis said they had taken Kengesepp, rail gate to Leningrad in the northwest.

The German high command further reported the capture of Russian fleet units under construction at Nikolaev, fallen Black sea port, including a 35,000-ton Soviet battleship, a 10,000-ton cruiser, four destroyers and two submarines. Presumably, most were in the skeleton stages of building.

In addition, the Nazi high command said, German bombers disabled three Soviet warships, including a heavy cruiser, in the waters off Odessa.

Authoritative quarters in London, commenting on the critical situation in the Ukraine, said that the German occupation west of the Dnieper river is not a death blow to the U. S. S. R., but that if the Nazis succeed in smashing Marshal Semeon Budyenny's army the result would be very serious.

British military experts said the ability of the Russians to hold on the east side of the swift, mile-wide Dnieper would depend on Budyenny's ingenuity in deploying his reserves.

If the Germans should force a crossing at one or two strategic points, it was said, there is no other natural line of defense except the River Don, 250 miles east of Dnieperopetrovsk.

Advices reaching London indicated that the Germans had reached the Dnieper north and south of Dnieperopetrovsk, imminently threatening the big industrial city.

Hitler's field headquarters, reporting that Soviet troops retreating to the east suffered "the heaviest and bloodiest losses," declared that German shock troops were already storming bridgeheads on the lower Dnieper.

MACHINE-GUN TRAIN USED BY PRIME MINISTER

Nazi Attack 24 Hours Before Churchill Climbed Aboard, Revealed By British.

(By International News Service)

LONDON — Belatedly revealed as the intended target of a German machine-gunning attack, Prime Minister Winston Churchill lunched with King George today and presented the monarch with a personal letter from President Roosevelt.

Churchill reported in full detail upon his series of conferences with the American president on the high seas.

British officials permitted the disclosure that only 24 hours before Churchill boarded a train for London at an undisclosed port after his meeting with Mr. Roosevelt, a German warplanes machine-gunned the same train, apparently in belief the prime minister was aboard.

Behind this astonishing revelation lies the explanation for the intense secrecy which clothed every movement of the prime minister until his return to London today.

Authorities said the machine-gunning of the train may have been "only a coincidence," yet the premier's narrow escape suggested that Germany's espionage service still is keenly efficient and was not far wrong in forecasting Churchill's probable movements.

(A comment of the British official wireless picked up last night by CBS admitted that the sea meeting between Mr. Roosevelt and Churchill was "not a well-

NAMES AWAITED

Bricker Expected To Appoint Defense Council Today.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Gov. John W. Bricker was expected to announced today appointment of a state defense council which the chief executive said he hoped would obtain national defense work for Ohio's small businesses. A law creating the board becomes effective tomorrow.

Small industries in the state, Bricker said, must be supplied with sub-contracts under the defense program if they are to be kept open, and he expressed hope the new council might be able to solve the problem.

The board will be composed of 14 members and the governor, who will be chairman.

'Mystery' Solved, City Will Let Jay-Walking Warning Signs Stay

JAC Member Puts Them Up Without Permission

Mansfield police and city officials today shook off their 24-hour bewilderment over the sudden appearance of 20 anti-jay-walking signs bolted to whiteway poles at downtown street intersections and announced that the signs were "OK" and would not be disturbed.

The signs were erected yesterday by Joseph Geiger, chairman of the safety committee of the Junior Association of Commerce. Reading "If You Must Jay-walk, Use Flag," the signs were made by Geiger and personally erected.

Reason for the city authorities' haziness about the origin of the signs, however, was that Geiger had not asked permission of the city to erect them, although a city ordinance prohibits placing signs on poles without the city's approval.

Mayor William J. Locke and Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton said they had not yet inspected the signs.

Police Chief Meade K. Bates and Traffic Commissioner Frend C. Boals although a bit piqued because no one had told them the signs were going up, announced today that so far as they are concerned the signs can stay up.

Mayor Locke wondered, however, if the signs would have been more effective if erected in the middle of the block rather than at intersections.

"After all," said the mayor, "jay-walking today is mostly done by people crossing the street at

7 KNOWN DEAD, SCORES MISSING IN HARBOR FIRE

55 In Hospitals as Hulk of Freighter, Holding Victims, Continues To Smolder.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Seven persons were known to be dead and some two score missing today as an aftermath of a blazing inferno which swept a Brooklyn pier, eating up cargo, destroying the Cuba mail line ship Panuco and numerous small craft, but an investigator said the total death toll of the $1,500,000 fire may never be known.

At least 55 persons were in hospitals seriously injured as a board of inquiry of the U. S. marine inspection and navigation service opened a formal nvestigation of yesterday's tragedy.

As police strove to account for those definitely known to have been aboard the Panuco, they succeeded in boarding the stern in their grim search. They issued the following tabulation:

No. 1 hold—five missing; No. 2 hold—three missing; No. 3 and No. 5 holds—18 missing; No. 4 hold—nine missing.

The Cuba mail line said that in addition to one member of the crew known to be dead, five other crewmen were missing and the fate of two others was in doubt. The Panuco carried a crew of 35.

Although the fire took place on a defense-vital waterfront the possibility of sabotage was considered unlikely.

From Washington, however, a board named by Secretary of Commerce Jones was sent today to participate in an investigation started by Brooklyn District Attorney William O'Dwyer, police and fire officials and the FBI.

JAPS AND U. S. IN STALEMATE

Nippon 'Might' Permit American Citizens To Leave If Special Ship's Sent.

(By United Press)

TOKYO—Japan will permit no Americans to leave the country unless the United States sends a ship for them and in that event the government will consider individually the application of each American, Koh Ishii, chief government spokesman, announced today.

Ishii disclosed that at present there was a complete stalemate in negotiations for evacuation of Americans.

A Japanese Domei news agency broadcast, picked up by the United Press listening post in New York, disclosed that last Friday the Japanese home office had issued an ordinance restricting the entry, residence and departure of all foreigners. Domei explained the ordinance as "similar to war time regulations affecting movements of aliens which are already in force in many warring countries.

(Japan, however, is not at war with any country officially, having refrained from declaring war on China.)

Ishii spoke vigorously and uncompromisingly.

He said that if the United States did send a ship for Americans, or for any other purpose, it would receive the same treat-

FAIR EXHIBITS ALL IN PLACE

Exhibitors Finish Work For Farm Show; 4-H Program on For Tomorrow.

Richland county fairgrounds were open today as exhibitors completed displays, expected to be the largest in 10 years, and set the stage for Wednesday morning when the fair officially opens at 8 a. m.

More display space has been sold to exhibitors than at any time in the past decade, according to R. D. Hale, fair board secretary, and farm stock and produce entries are said to be the best in years.

The county's 4-H clubs will hold the spotlight opening day with a demonstration contest in front of the grandstand at 9 a. m. followed by a 4-H revue at 1 p. m. and a demonstration by winners of the morning competition at 1:30 p. m.

Designed to appeal to rural people the Wednesday program will be headlined with an address at 2 p. m. by Walter Lloyd, editor of the Ohio Farmer. Lloyd will

USE OXYGEN

Five Tanks Administered to Girl With Strange Malady.

TIFFIN —(U.P.)— Physicians applied their skill today trying to keep alive Arlene McArdle, 16, who lay unconscious in an oxygen tent and suffering from a strange malady. The girl was found by her mother, lying fully clothed and unconscious on a bed at home yesterday.

Firemen administered five tanks of oxygen to restore breathing to the apparently lifeless victim. Physicians were unable to explain her condition.

BODY FOUND

Remains of Missing Boy Are Discovered In Icebox.

READING, Pa.—(U.P.)—The body of frail, eight-year-old Billy Krewson, missing from his home for six days, today was found stuffed in the ice compartment of a wooden refrigerator.

Although there were no marks of violence on the body, Deputy Coroner Michael Austin said the boy was dead before he was placed in the compartment.

Police theorized that the youth, for whom prayers were offered in Reading churches Sunday, may have been the victim of a sex maniac. "An autopsy will clear up the manner of death," Dr. Austin said, pointing out that the boy may have been strangled.

SUSPECT HELD

Believed Solicitor For Magazine That Didn't Exist.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Dale Stump, attorney for the State Employes Beneficial association, said today that new investigations indicated approximately $100,000 had been solicited for a non-existent publication of the organization. A suspected solicitor is now being held in Toledo on another charge, Stump told a group of highway contractors.

The contributions, ranging from $50 to $500, were made by highway contractors, millers, seed companies and breweries doing business with the state.

COUNTY BESTS STATE ON 'DEAL'

Richland To Be $2,000 Ahead In Settling of Old Debts Under New Law.

Under a new state law which goes into effect today, Richland county and the state will begin settling some old accounts which are expected to show in the end the county running about $2,000 to the good.

The state owes the county $7,500 for the prosecution and transportation of criminals since 1934. By next November, the county will have a bill from the state for $5,500 for the care of patients in mental hospitals, County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe said.

That leaves the county $2,000 ahead, but the aditor said no cash will change hands. Instead, the county will receive that much credit on future bills for the keep of its mental patients in state hospitals.

The state now owes its 88 counties nearly $850,000 as reimbursement for expenses involved in convicting and transporting inmates to penal institutions. The new law, sponsored by Senator Joseph Jameson of the Richland county district, makes it mandatory that the accounts be settled.

Finance department experts estimated that the process of "settling up" will take three years in some cases.

GETS WARMER

Mercury on Rise, Fair and Warmer Weather Predicted.

Temperatures started rising today after the coldest August 18 on record but the weatherman predicted a return of the cool weather for tonight.

After hitting a high of only 65 degrees yesterday, the mercury climbed slowly today, reaching 72 around noon. The nearest approach to yesterday's cool mark was on August 15, 1929 when the same mercury reading was recorded.

Clearing and cooler weather are predicted for tonight followed by fair weather and moderate temperatures tomorrow.

The average temperature for the past 24 hours was 67 degrees, three lower than the 16-year average. Only .01 inches of precipitation was recorded.

GET TRAINING

Ohio Guardsmen Have Workout In 'Actual Campaign Conditions.'

CAMP PERRY—(INS)—In wind, rain and cold, Ohio state guardsmen today were getting their first touch of actual war time campaign conditions.

Workmen Condition Schools For Opening In Two Weeks

With school due to open two weeks from tomorrow, 32 school building maintenance men under J. B. Moke, head of the Mansfield schools' maintenance, are putting the finishing touches on the summer's building repair work.

Moke said today that boilers in all of the schools have received their summer repairs and that masonry on all the buildings had been caulked, walls cleaned, fire hazards eliminated and new sidewalks laid.

Superintendent of Schools L. W. Miller's office estimated that 6,274 pupils would return to school this fall with 1,394 of them registered at Senior high school.

Glenn Rohleder, formerly principal of John Simpson junior high and now head of the Senior high, however, predicted that not all of them would return.

"Many of them," Rohleder said, "have found jobs in industry and, needing them, will not be able to return to school this fall.

Four new teachers will join the Senior high faculty this fall. Six new teachers have been hired for junior high schools and 10 for elementary schools.

Pupils who have moved to Mansfield since last spring and who wish to register at Senior high may do so in the school's office from 9 to 11:30 a. m. and from 1:30 to 3:30 p. m., Rohleder announced.

New pupils for junior high schools and elementary schools may register at the schools they plan to attend at any time during the next two weeks.

Police Arrest Four Youths After Stealing Cars In City

Mansfield police said today that two automobiles stolen from the city yesterday had been recovered and that four youths had been arrested in connection with the thefts.

Two Mansfield boys, one 13 and the other 15 years old, were given suspended sentences to the Lancaster Boys' Industrial school today upon arraignment in Richland county probate court on an auto theft charge.

Two other youths, Jack Christ, 18, and Glenn Bodle, 19, both of Akron, were arrested this morning by Cleveland police in connection with the theft of another auto from this city last night. They are being returned today to face prosecution.

The Mansfield boys were charged with taking an auto from Waring avenue yesterday without the permission of the owner, Catherine Bates, and driving to Massillon where they were picked up by police.

The Akron youths will be charged with the theft of an auto owned by Dewey Sowash, 77 Western avenue. Sowash's car was stolen from its parking place in front of 96 Rowland avenue last night.

Police Chief Meade K. Bates repeated a warning to motorists, asking that they remove the keys from their cars when parking.

"Presenting such opportunities for theft is in a large part responsible," said Bates.

SHELBY VOTERS TO BALLOT ON TAX PROPOSAL

Okayed By Council, Park Levy To Be Submitted at General Election.

SHELBY—City council approved the submission of a .5-mill tax levy for park maintenance to voters at the general election, at its regular semi-monthly business session Monday night.

The proposed levy, which would be for five years and raise an estimated $3,500 a year, would go into effect Jan. 1, 1942.

S. D. Inscho, sr., park board president, had appeared before the city council earlier in the year and recommended the legislation.

Funds available from the general fund here are not sufficient to cover the cost of the recreation centers since new parks have been opened throughout the city, Inscho contended.

Revenue from the proposed levy would be used not only in Seltzer park but also to develop the other parks that have been built in West Park drive addition, South street, municipal water company grounds and North Broadway.

Ordinances declaring it necessary to proceed with the Fourth street improvement and a sanitary sewer on Summit and South streets were approved by council.

Main street was reopened again after being closed so the widening project for Main street bridge over the Black Fork creek could be completed yesterday.

The street remained closed until late yesterday so cement would set before traffic used the bridge.

The project is moving west to Church street which will complete the widening project downtown between that street and the east side square. The south side of the street was completed earlier this summer.

After this section is completed, the workmen will widen the street between the New York Central railroad crossing and Church street and Wentz avenue and the east side square which will complete the improvement program.

COMMISSIONERS SLASH ASHLAND COUNTY BUDGET

Approve Requests Totaling $197,620 For 1942 Operation.

ASHLAND—Following a public hearing on the proposed Ashland county budget for 1942 requesting $197,620.47 for the General Fund Ashland county commissioners passed the budget Monday afternoon.

Although the budget is $791.77 higher than requests made by department heads, the total listed is $12,849 less than 1941 anticipated expenditures.

With first six months actual and last six months estimated, expenditures for this year are figured at $210,469.79.

Although public hearings have been held on the budget every year taxpayers had always failed to attend until yesterday when about 25 were present. T. J. Stence, chairman of the board of county commissioners, presided at the hearing.

Major increases in next year's budget are in agriculture where extra money must be provided for TB test of cattle, mandatory every three years; Children's Home and County Home budgets, board of elections and clerk of courts for extra office help if necessary.

Decreases in budget requirements for next year are interest on courthouse bond retirement and department of engineer.

After a short wedding trip the couple will return to a newly furnished home at 539 Park avenue. Mr. Larick is employed at the Swan Rubber company. Mrs. Larick is a June graduate of Bucyrus high school.

BUY SUPPLIES FOR NEW PLANT

Council at Crestline Okays Purchase of Material For Sewage Works.

CRESTLINE — Material which had been purchased for Crestline's new disposal plant boosted the payroll as allowed by city council at their regular meeting Monday evening, the amount being $5,008.18.

Samples and prices of street markers have been received and were on display at the meeting, in connection with the new street ordinance passed at the last meeting.

To the police committee fell the task of checking these samples and prices and deciding upon the purchase of the material.

Clerk Marie Schill was instructed to advertise for bids for a ton and a half heavy duty truck and trade in an old 1931 Dodge truck.

An ordinance was passed increasing the clerk's salary effective, January 1.

A notice was to be sent the president of the Emergency hospital board, Dr. C. A. Marquart, requesting the board to meet with council members regarding the half-mill levy for the hospital which is included in the city's budget each year.

The clerk reported $566.26 received from the county auditor, C. C. Metzger for sales tax.

THREE COUPLES WED RECENTLY

Ashland Countians Reveal Marriages of Past Week-End.

ASHLAND—Announcement of the recent marriages of three Ashland county couples has been made here.

Miss Betty Morgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Morgan of Ashland, and Mr. Edward Beatly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Beatly of Mansfield took place Saturday evening at the home of Rev. W. L. Lesenberg in Ashland. Mr. and Mrs. Beatly are residing in Mansfield.

Miss Virginia M. Kauffman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Mr. Stephen M. Mansfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Mansfield of Bellville were united Saturday at the Paradise Hill United Brethren church with Rev. Robert Airhart, pastor of the church, officiating. Attending the couple were Miss LaDonna Kauffman, sister of the bride, and Mr. Joe Apsolon.

Mrs. Mansfield, a graduate of the 1938 Ashland high school class, has been employed as cashier at the J. J. Newberry store. Mr. Mansfield is employed at the Ohio Brass company. The couple will reside on South Main road, Mansfield.

The marriage of Miss Portia Strickling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Strickling, R. D. 5, and Mr. Charles Liston, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Liston, Loudonville, R. D. 1, took place Saturday at the home of Rev. W. L. Desenberg. The couple will reside near Loudonville.

CRESTLINE—A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bauer of Route 1, Crestline, Monday at Emergency hospital.

NAMES DRAWN FOR JURY DUTY

ASHLAND — Grand and petit jurors for the September term of Ashland common pleas court were drawn here Monday. Twenty names were drawn for the grand jury and 30 were drawn for the petit jury.

Suit of Lester Miller against Elmer F. Leininger has been settled and dismissed in common pleas court, the petition having sought dissolution of the partnership of the Miller-Leininger motor firm in Loudonville.

Other recent actions in the court of common pleas include an appeal filed from the court of Justice F. C. Gates of Jeromesville, the defendants in the suit of L. D. Miner against Rubie and Wayne Hoyman having filed the appeal. Judgment of $161.64 was granted Miner in the lower court.

WED SUNDAY

Bucyrians Exchange Vows at First Baptist Church.

BUCYRUS—In an open church ceremony in First Baptist church here Sunday afternoon, Miss Adele Mullen, daughter of Mrs. John R. Mullen, 316 Woodlawn avenue, exchanged marriage vows with Paul D. Wakeley, 320 Lane street, son of Mrs. Luella Wakeley.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Arthur Heatherman of Danville, Ky. Bridesmaids were Miss Norma Phillips of Danville and Miss Janet Young of Bucyrus. Fred Wakeley of Cleveland, eldest brother of the bridegroom, served his brother as best man, and ushers were Arthur Vogel and William Hise of Bucyrus and John Wakeley of Mansfield.

The couple left for a southern honeymoon. After Sept. 1 they will be at home in a newly furnished apartment on South Walnut street.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Wakeley are graduates of Bucyrus high school. Mr. Wakeley is agent for the Western and Southern Life Insurance company. The bride has lived in Danville for the past two years.

CITY-COUNTY OUTING TO BE HELD AT ASHLAND WEDNESDAY

ASHLAND — The Ashland Chamber of Commerce was urging the weatherman to make it nice tomorrow for the annual Ashland city-county picnic to be held at Brookside park.

Starting at 1:30 p. m., a full program of events has been planned closing with a fireworks display at 9:30 p. m.

With retail stores closing on Wednesday afternoon and county offices to be closed this Wednesday afternoon a large crowd is expected to attend.

One of the highlights of the program will be the championship game of the district softball tournament. Quarter-finals of the tournament were played Monday night, and semi-finals will be played tonight. The final game is set for 8 p. m., Wednesday.

Another event is a softball game at 3:30 p. m., between Ashland business men "owned" by Mayor Howard S. Lutz and a county men's team assembled by James Atterhold, secretary of the fair board. P. C. (Spitz) Ganyard is managing Mayor Lutz' team and the mayor is slated to start the pitching. However if his manager "pulls" him after his first pitch, he must abide by his ruling.

Atterholt's team is being managed by Tom J. Stence, Ashland county commissioner, and neither manager knows just who will show up to play on his team until the game starts.

At 1:30 p. m., there are to be swimming and diving championships for boys and girls of the county and horseshoe pitchers will vie for the county championship. At 2 o'clock there will be bait casting contests for men, women and children.

From 5:30 p. m. to 6:30 p. m., families are to have their basket picnics and at 6:30 p. m., in all-county band under the direction of Tod Chesrown will present a concert. At 7 p. m., a horseshoe match between Ashland and Wooster is scheduled.

During the afternoon and evening it is also planned to have exhibitions and matches in archery, tennis and lawn bowling.

GERMANS CLAIM OCCUPATION OF WEST UKRAINE

Report Violent Assaults on Odessa, Reds Admit Pincer Losses on Leningrad.

non and a vast store of other war booty were captured, the German communique said, in fighting around Odessa and the lower Dnieper.

Soviet troops under siege at Odessa were pictured by the Germans as under a "constant hail of bombs" with the Luftwaffe smothering all attempts of the Russians to escape by sea. Nine big Soviet troops transports were declared to have been hit and disabled by Nazi planes raining destruction along four miles of Odessa's waterfront. The Nazis termed it "another Dunkerque"—referring to the British-French withdrawal from the bloody battle of Flanders last year.

Farther west, in operations around the Ukraine capital of Kiev and the nearby town of Korosten, the Germans reported the capture of 17,750 prisoners, 42 tanks, 123 cannon and an armored train.

A Red army bulletin beat the Germans to the announcement that Nazi forces had captured the town of Kingisepp, rail gate to Leningrad from the west, bringing the battlefield within 75 miles of Russia's second biggest city.

The Berlin radio broadcast last night said that Nazi forces which had advanced around both sides of Lake Peipus on the Russian-Estonian frontier had met at Narya, 15 miles west of Kingisepp, apparently for a concerted push on the big naval base of Leningrad, former capital of the czars.

Finnish forces from the north were supporting the German attack with a strengthened drive across the Karelian isthmus. The Finns declared last night they had taken the lakeside town of Kurkijoki and were within 95 miles of Leningrad from the north.

Explosives and incendiaries were dropped on the Soviet capital in a night raid in which the Russians said only one German plane broke through.

The British air force bombed western Germany again overnight and touched off large fires along the French coast from Dunkerque to Boulogne.

Reds Claim Use of Napoleonic Retreat

MOSCOW —(U.P.)—Red army forces, applying strategy used effectively in the Napoleonic war, were reported today to be falling back before the Germans on the Leningrad and Ukraine fronts, but were said to have thrown the Nazis back beyond Smolensk on the Moscow front.

Russian armies abandoned Kingisepp, 70 miles from Leningrad, as German forces drove toward the old capital from three sides—from Estonia, the Karelian isthmus to the north, and Staraya Russa to the south.

Soviet military quarters said the Red army was employing tactics worked out more than a century ago in the Napoleonic campaign, consisting of withdrawal where necessary while inflicting the severest possible losses on the enemy.

RAF Raid Goes Into 25th Hour of Bombing

LONDON —(INS)— One of the most relentless R. A. F. attacks of recent weeks on the Reich and France roared beyond its 24th hour today as daylight raiders carried on the destruction of great waves of night bombers.

While Soviet bombing planes attacked eastern Germany, the R. A. F. repeated its nightly blows against the western Reich and hammered targets in France almost ceaselessly from yesterday afternoon on.

Night attacks were directed against frequently-bombed Cologne and Duisburg. "Large fires," said the air ministry, were started in the German industrial centers.

Dunkirk was the focal point of the attacks on France.

Eight British bombers were lost in attacks, directed largely against airdromes in Germany and Nazi-occupied territories.

Enemy operations, according to the air ministry, last night were on a small scale.

German bombs were dropped on northeast Scotland and two places in northeast England, where a small number of casualties were caused.

Fascist Editor Sets Own '8-Point' Plan

ROME—(INS)—On behalf of the Rome-Berlin Axis, Roberto Farinacci, editor of the Regime Fascists, today produced an 8-point Italo-German peace aim program in answer to the Roosevelt-Churchill declaration.

The plan follows:

1—Europe for the Europeans.

2—Control of Jews to prevent them from "doing harm."

3—Provision of raw materials for the German and Italian peoples.

4—Removal of "jailers" from key points on the sea routes (obviously Gibraltar and Suez.)

5—Work as a substitute for gold.

6—Annihilation of Bolshevism and plutocracy.

7—Liberation of Christianity from "impostors."

8—Establishment of a brotherly peace through dissemination of Axis political conceptions.

EIGHT ARRESTED

Work Halted Ten Hours In Strike Dispute At Bethlehem Plant.

BALTIMORE—(INS)—Eight men were arrested, work in the wire and pipe mills was halted for nearly ten hours and 12 autos were damaged as the result of strike disorders at the Bethlehem Steel company's Sparrow Point plant early today.

Later, following conferences with company officials, 700 strikers returned to work pending further discussions between CIO union officials and steel company representatives.

kept secret," and added: "You can imagine how much the Germans would have given to have attacked the battleship Prince of Wales while the British premier was on board.

("It is rumored that they even sent out the Tirpitz to scout about looking for Churchill. If this is true, then the Tirpitz met with no success, and perhaps the hunter will become the hunted, and the Tirpitz will herself share the fate of her sister-ship, the Bismarck.")

Immediately upon his return, Churchill presided at a meeting of the war cabinet, all members of which had met him at the station. Churchill had come directly to London from the secret spot where he disembarked yesterday from the Prince of Wales.

Churchill showed plainly that his chief concern was the unbroken continuation of Anglo-American war collaboration with the Soviets.

United States Ambassador John G. Winant was a member of the throng which turned out to meet Churchill, and the prime minister was quick to single him out for a brief preliminary talk.

""Well, more anon," Churchill said after he exchanged a few words with Winant, and added significantly, "I'll be seeing a lot of you from here on."

Churchill will broadcast to the nation on Sunday.

FDR Studies Plans To Unify Defense

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—President Roosevelt today scheduled a conference with Lord Beaverbrook, British minister of supply, and disclosed that a special study is being made to clear up conflicts between two of the principal U. S. defense agencies. Mr. Roosevelt arranged to lunch with Beaverbrook and Lend-Lease Administrator Harry L. Hopkins.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Roosevelt was reported giving study today to several plans for unifying the policies of the various defense agencies.

Well-informed officials said that one plan called for the creation of a policy board, and had the backing both of the budget bureau and of Judge Samuel I. Rosenman, an intimate of the president.

Rosenman has been in the capital in recent weeks, and reports have circulated that he was engaged in a trouble-shooting survey of defense administration.

Although the policy board plan was said to be under consideration, other sources claimed that Mr. Roosevelt had been talking informally of appointing a single head for the entire defense program.

SHORT SESSION

Council Meets For 20 Minutes To OK Street Legislation.

In a 20-minute session, city council last night rushed through the necessary legislation to allow the paving of two city streets before winter snow flies again.

With practically no debate, council approved ordinances authorizing the grading and paving of Taylor road between Overlook and Cline avenue and of Newman street between Orange and Fifth streets.

The city will pay $1,600 of the estimated $7,800 to be needed for the Taylor road project and $900 of the $13,800 for paving Newman street.

The only other action taken at the special meeting was the appropriation of $85 from the parking meter fund to pay Lloyd L. Kochenderfer his salary as parking meter collector between Aug. 25 and Sept. 25.

URGES GUARDS

Chillicothe Warden Says Larger Personnel Needed.

SAN FRANCISCO —(AP)— Reformatories need a larger personnel to offset the brutality of youth, F. Lovell Bixby, warden of the federal industrial reformatory at Chillicothe, O., told the American prison association meeting here yesterday.

"The mere presence of a fence with some guards along it, while by no means insurmountable, would cut down the increasing number of escapes," Bixby said. "The guarded fence creates the impression in the youngster's mind that he can not run away, so he doesn't think about and doesn't try to escape."

JAPS AND U. S. IN STALEMATE

ment which the United States accorded to the Tatuta Maru and other Japanese ships.

(American importers took legal action to prevent the Tatuta Maru from returning to Japan from San Francisco with its rich cargo of silk and the cargo had to be unloaded, thus becoming subject to the United States freezing regulations.)

Spokesman Ishii took occasion to re-emphasize that Japan was "gravely concerned" over the question of American shipments to Vladivostok in aid of Russia. The United States," he said, should be "more delicate" in its diplomatic relations with Japan.

(A steady deterioration in Japanese-American relations was emphasized by United Press dispatches from Shanghai. After putting an armed guard around an American mission at Tehsien, in northern China, the Japanese army put a similar guard over the Presbyterian mission at Ichowfu, arrested six Americans attached to it and seized radio and other mission property. Missioners at Shanghai charged that the new Japanese move was part of a political campaign against the United States and forecast an extension.)

Ishii started out his talk on the status of Americans here by announcing that they could now leave Japan only if the government gave them permission, and that each case would be considered individually.

Then he took up the refusal of the government to permit the liner President Coolidge to call at a Japanese port to embark 22 American officials and more than 100 civilians who desired to go home.

Discussing the state department protest over this refusal, Ishii said the American embassy broke a promise in seeking to get the civilians aboard, because Japan had given permission only for the officials to leave.

U. S. Rejects Jap Normal Trade Appeal

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The United States government, it was learned today, has, in effect, rejected an appeal from Japan that normal relations be restored between this country and the Nippon empire.

Japan, in the course of diplomatic conversations aimed at clarification of this government's new hard-boiled Far Eastern policy, urged a resumption of normal trade relations.

In response to the Japanese appeal, this government has made it plain to Tokyo that it stands firm in its determination to prevent Japan from using the benefits of American trade for the purpose of strengthening the Nippon military machine for aggressive actions in the Fas East.

The United States has indicated that it is prepared to let Japan have enough crude oil and other materials for peaceful purposes, but that it is not disposed to resume commercial relations to the point where the Japanese militarists can obtain supplies for their expansionist aims.

Furthermore, it has been made unmistakably clear to Japan that this government intends to continue the imposition of drastic economic sanctions as long as the Nippon empire threatens further aggressive action in the Far East.

Japan has been told, in effect, that if it refrains from threatening American, British, Dutch and Russian interests in the Pacific, it need have no fear of encirclement by those powers, but that if it plays for Germany in the Pacific the same role Italy played in the Mediterranean, it must take the consequences.

POLIO FATAL

COLUMBUS —(INS)—Cecil Pepper, 21, of Zanesville, died of infantile paralysis in University hospital. He was stricken in Canton and taken to his home before being removed to the hospital.

BABY WEIGHING ONE POUND AND 14 OUNCES GAINS AT HOSPITAL

Mansfield has had a baby weighing one pound and 14 ounces in General hospital's brand new incubator since Aug. 12 and the child's physician thinks today she's going to live.

Born prematurely Aug. 7 at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Waters at 216 North Diamond street, the baby weighed one pound and 10 ounces at birth.

Wrapped in blankets and hot water bottles and fed through a medicine dropper the tiny infant struggled for life with the aid of the physicians and visiting nurses at home until Aug. 12 when she was taken to the hospital.

Before going to the hospital it was a losing fight, visiting nurses said. However, after the nurses had persuaded the parents to take the baby to the hospital, she began to gain weight.

Now, after a week in the baby ward, the child tips the scales at better than one pound, 14 ounces. Just how much better, the nurses don't know.

They've been handling the baby as little as possible because it is so small and so fragile, and therefore, haven't taken the infant out of the incubator for weighing.

In any event, the baby, Dorothy Jean, is getting to be a "big girl" and rapidly.

She is the first child to use the new incubator.

THROWN 85 FEET TO ERIE BEACH

Young Divorcee Near Death After Being Hurled From Cliff.

CLEVELAND —(INS)— Thrown from an 85-foot cliff to a narrow rocky strip of beach along Lake Erie, Miss Jane Hunt, 21-year-old divorcee today was near death in Lakewood City hospital.

Police, unable to question Miss Hunt for any length of time because of her condition, reported the woman as having said her companion threw her from the top of the cliff.

She was said to have suffered a broken nose, a possible broken neck and multiple contusions around the body.

County 4-H clubs and Future Farmers organizations will join in a parade at 2:30 p. m. in which the Bellville school band will participate.

Three contests, quiz, trailer-backing and milking, are scheduled for 3 p. m.

The judging of livestock and farm exhibits will take place at 8 a. m. Judging of Richland county's 11th annual flower show is also slated for Wednesday.

Forty prizes totalling $45 will be paid to winners in 20 flower classifications that must be on display by Wednesday to compete for prize money.

Night programs will be held four consecutive nights beginning Wednesday with midget auto races as the main attraction.

Klein's circus, which carries trained ponies, dogs, monkeys and an educated mule and a tight-wire and trapeze act, will perform Thursday and Friday afternoons.

Thursday attractions include a tug-of-war, in which each of the county's 18 townships will compete ; a horse-pulling contest and band contest.

A stock parade, horse pulling contest and tug-of-war are announced for Friday.

ADMITS SHOOTING

BATAVIA —(INS)— John T. Browning, 48, of nearby Point Pleasant, asserted confessed he shot and killed his farm partner, Warren Wellington, 54, climaxing a long series of quarrels between them.

12 INJURED IN CUBA BOMBINGS

V For Victory Cards Found In Wrecked Havana Stores.

HAVANA—(AP)—Havana counted its toll of injured at 12 today from Terrorist bombings which damaged two shoe stores, a mirror factory and a supply house, some of them in Havana's central shopping district.

Police were silent on possible motives for the bombings late last night, but said they sought a black sedan from which two men were reported to have been seen hurling some of the explosives.

The business houses wrecked were operated by Spaniards. Police found "V for Victory" cards among the bomb-strewn wreckage.

places other than intersections."

"If permission had been asked," said Bates, "it would have probably been granted so we might as well leave them up."

Boals took the same stand and said he had received some favorable comment on the signs.

Geiger said that he did not believe it necessary to obtain the city's permission to put up signs on street light poles.

"The poles belong to the Ohio Public Service company," he said, "and they granted me permission to erect the signs. You don't think I'd go through all the trouble of making them unless I was sure I could put them up, do you?"

announcement could not be immediately determined but it was certain to have ameliorating effect on the legislators.

The order, according to the war department, in which the men will be released, follows:

1. Dependency and "hardship cases when properly established."

2. Men 28 years of age or over July 1, 1941, regardless of length of service and in order of their term of active duty.

3. Married men who want to be discharged at the end of their statutory one-year service.

The war department said that releases of men from army ranks will be made at a uniform rate "so that the efficiency of the organization will not be too seriously lowered." Other than dependency, hardship or "other emergency cases," the department added, men will not be discharged while their organizations are on maneuvers or engaged in "other special training."

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, TUESDAY, AUGUST 19, 1941.

In Utopia, of course, there will be a way to double wages and cut prices in half.

Now comes an OPM order to stop manufacture of white sidewall tires—thus temporarily eliminating another class distinction.

The dreamers who believe that war can be prevented simply by not wanting it put an awful burden on everybody else's shoulders.

Non-Defense Employment Problem

THE PLIGHT of manufacturing plants and employes that have been unable to turn to defense work and have had to stop normal production because of lack of materials, has begun to be serious. For example, the 23 companies comprising the Aluminum Ware Association, with 16,000 workers, used to make aluminum utensils, certain parts for washing machines, and so on. Today they can't have the aluminum. Some have kept going, on a small scale, with little defense jobs. Some have closed down entirely, and only a few of their employes have found other work.

Leon Henderson has said that 2,000,000 men might become jobless from this cause. Although that estimate is considered high by some authorities, the fact remains that this country has reached a stage of defense production at which other production is being stopped or seriously curtailed. There is evidence that something will be done about it. The 23 companies mentioned above are holding a meeting to discuss their mutual problems and "find a way out."

One solution should be distribution of defense work, now concentrated in the hands of comparatively few concerns, among many more of the small concerns. There were sound reasons—such as need for speed and ownership of adequate tools, etc.—for giving most of the earlier orders to the few prepared to handle them. By this time, more of those orders should be farmed out. It would be no help to defense to revive widespread unemployment.

Left Turns as Accident Cause

It is common practice in all large cities to designate a number of busy street intersections at which left turns are forbidden, and few cities of Mansfield's size attempt to handle traffic expeditiously without banning left turns at one or more intersections where traffic congestion most frequently occurs.

While the Detroit idea of barring left turns at all intersections of main traffic streets seems to be overdoing it, it appears that public safety takes precedence over individual convenience in considering this problem, and that many entirely innocent motorists suffer damage to their cars and possible personal injuries because of the reckless manner in which some drivers make left turns while moving along in a stream of traffic.

As Mansfield's traffic conditions are subjected to further study it is quite likely that the advisability of eliminating left turns at one, or several, busy corners will be considered. Meanwhile, the utmost care in making turns—either left or right—is advised as a habit worth cultivating.

Transportation Efficiency Sought

AMERICAN INDUSTRY has been asked by the Office of Emergency Management to make the most efficient use of the nation's transportation facilities. Specific suggestions are mentioned, of which the most important are:

First, give carriers adequate advance notice when transportation facilities are needed.

Second, order precisely the size and kind of facilities required.

Third, have goods properly packed, marked and ready for shipment when the carriers arrive.

Fourth, pack and ship goods in units adapted to utilizing maximum carrying capacity of transportation vehicles.

Fifth, load and unload transportation vehicles immediately, and operate loading and unloading facilities every day in the week when possible.

Sixth, route shipments so as to avoid unnecessary circuity of routes and superfluous interchanges between carriers.

It must be realized that the shipper must do his part if there is to be maximum efficiency and speed in transportation.

Dairy Farmers' Income Grows

AT LEAST a fair percentage of increased milk prices seems to be carrying through to producers, according to the Milk Industry Foundation, which reports that dairy farmers' cash income from milk for the first six months in 1941 reached the highest total in more than a decade and was almost double the 1933 low.

This report reveals the U. S. farm milk income during the first half of this year was $888,000,000—an increase of 18.09 per cent over the same period in 1940, or greater than that of all other farm products combined, excluding government payments. The report concludes: "Prospects are that milk income will continue sharply higher than a year earlier."

Texas Showman In Senate

THE new United States senator from Texas has attracted attention beyond the circle of his constituents. The same flair for showmanship and the unorthodox campaign methods that carried him into the governorship of Texas and then to Washington apparently will keep him in the limelight there.

One of Senator O'Daniel's campaign pledges was that he would "put a cocklebur under the gang of pussyfooting politicians surrounding the president." And he lost no time in making his maiden speech and in taking an open stand on various questions before the senate.

Such enthusiasm and speed, coupled with ability and responsibility, could be very useful. Observers hope the steadier qualities are there. Another Huey Long in public life is not desirable.

SPEAKING OF BOTTLENECKS

Airplanes May Be Decisive Factor

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON — Britain has the Germans beaten with regard to fighting planes. America is producing the best bombing planes in the world. Britain is in production on these crack fighting planes. America is producing and rapidly approaching huge quantity production on the bombers.

That is the airplane picture of the present war. It is likely to be the decisive factor in its settlement. The British fighter is now so superior to anything the Germans have, and is being produced in such numbers—plus the fact that the training program for the men to fly and fight them is well under way as told in a previous dispatch—that any thought of the Nazis winning air superiority over Britain is highly unlikely, to put it mildly.

It is interesting to note the reasons why Britain has excelled in fighters and the United States in bombers. The whole thought of the British has been devoted since long before Munich to defense—defense of their island—preventing fleets of bombers from making a shambles of their country and opening the way to invasion.

Hence they specialized on small, very fast planes with heavy gunfire, or, as the experts prefer to call it, fire power. The British were putting eight machine-guns in single-seater fighting planes when the Italians had only two. This fact is part of the answer to why the Italians have been so futile in the air, on the land and on the sea.

THESE planes not only had to be fast—with heavy fire power—they had to be able to climb quickly, so that when the fleet of attacking bombers, coming at high speed, were noted they could get in the air and attack them.

Whether they had long range or not was not important to the task contemplated. Hence they saved weight and added to speed and climbing capacity by reducing the amount of gas carried.

Now consider the American problem, as it has been viewed ever since we took aviation seriously—or rather since the admirals and generals have admitted that airplanes are good for something besides scouting.

We planned a defensive war. So we wanted long-range ships—big ships that could fly long distances and deliver their blows and return. We sacrificed fire power and engine weight (speed) to this great desire for long-distance operation. A thought about the Pan American problem, the West Indies, Hawaii, and the Panama Canal gives part of the clue to this line of thought.

BUT without going into rhapsodies about this new British fighter let us consider some details. This plane is the new Typhoon. It will replace the famous Spitfire. Now the Spitfire had a speed estimated at about 420 miles an hour. We do not know how fast the Typhoon is, but observers have seen the Typhoons "walking away" from the Spitfires in speed busts. The Typhoon is equipped with one engine, the new "Sabre" made by the Napier people of automobile fame. Experts say its horsepower exceed 2,400, and a report to an American news service stated it was 2,350. Compare this with the Allison engine, which now has 1,350 horsepower, recently stepped up from 1,050!

This magnificent engine is the H type, with four banks of six cylinders each—twin crank shafts geared together.

The new Typhoon is equipped with multiple cannon—it is not announced precisely how many, nor whether it carries any machine guns in addition. But the machine gun is almost passe in air fighting. One has to hit a very vital spot or the pilot to accomplish anything. One shell exploding anywhere in an airplane structure is—curtains.

Preparing For a Luxurious Shave

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

There is probably no greater luxury than a good shave when properly done. It soothes the nerves, quiets the mind, increases self-confidence, and in general disseminates an air of peace and well-being about the household.

I strongly urge you, brothers, if you have regarded the act of shaving as an annoyance or a disagreeable duty, to turn your minds around.

Of course, it must be done with a certain routine, even ceremony. A considerable amount of time should be allowed for a good shave. Forget your business, or your girl, or the horrors of war, and come with me to the bathroom, and allow me to show you how to do it.

Scientific Background.

We have a great deal of scientific information and background on which to base our procedure for comfortable shaving.

The preliminiaries consist in softening the beard. This has been tested with various methods by taking individual hairs after shaving and testing their rate of elongation. This rate of elongation has also been tested when the hair is immersed in different fluids and soaps. Hot water alone will cause a considerable amount of softening, far more than cold water—a very important point. Hair absorbs water readily. Soap and water give maximum elongation.

Preliminary Lathering.

Shaving soap is valuable because is removes the sebaceous secretion which the hair takes up from the skin. This secretion delays water absorbtion. The preliminary lathering also lubricates the blade and protects the skin from trauma from the razor blade. There is also an antiseptic action from the soap.

The time required for minimum softening of the beard with water and shaving soap is forty to forty-five seconds; maximum softening is not produced until after the elapse of two and one-half to three minutes. When the water is cold or the hair is gray, the time is increased.

The angle at which the razor is held in relation to the skin's surface will vary with circumstances. With most people the most effective shaving angle is twenty-five degrees.

Two Types of Hair.

There are two types of hair on the face; one, the delicate hair with a diameter of 0.025 mm. and the coarser hair with a diameter of 0.09 to 0.23 mm. It is the thick hair that we attack with the preliminary preparation. The real difficulty of shaving is due to the fact that the razor must cut off hairs which do not grow straight out, and are deflected in different directions on different part of the face and also are imbedded in a stiff foundation.

To enjoy this great luxury, then, the skin should first be prepared by a thorough lathering with hot water and shaving soap. This should be brushed in with a brush, and afterwards more water applied, and the entire surface rubbed with the fingers. You cannot use too much water. All this should be rinsed off with hot water. This removes grease and dirt particles, fine bits of silica and sand and soot which impede the progress of the razor. This preliminary preparation should take three minutes.

For a truly luzurious shave, the shaving soap should also be replaced with some form of shaving cream. After the shave, hot water alone is usually enough to make the skin feel not only comfortable but delightful with proper preparation. Your lotion should contain 50% alcohol. More than this is irritating; less than this has not sufficient antiseptic value.

Suggestion for the Girls

You should strive to improve your mind at least a little. You may need a mind later on when your beauty is gone.—Kansas City Times.

Piracy Articles May Be Invoked On Armed Jap Merchant Vessels

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt personally is credited with the idea of having Queen Wilhelmina of Holland join him and Winston Churchill at their floating conference off the coast of Newfoundland.

However, the queen, who is 62 years old and in exile in England, at the last minute found she was unequal to the rigors of a flight in a modern bombing plane. They are not insulated for noise and lack modern conveniences. And by that time it was too late to take the queen to Newfoundland by warship.

The fact that she was invited highlights what was the most important part of the conference—joint action against Japan. The Dutch East Indies, with its wealth of tin, oil and rubber, is the biggest prize of the entire South Pacific—more important than Singapore, Thailand or Australia. The floating conversations off Newfoundland concentrated on the problem of blocking the Japanese drive to the Indies.

Roosevelt took with him to Newfoundland the navy's plan for its next tough move against Japan—namely, invoking the articles of piracy. This means that any Japanese merchant ship carrying a gun would be considered a pirate and be hauled in by the U. S. navy unless in its own home waters.

Since most Japanese merchant vessels now are mounted with guns, in clear violation of the law of neutrals, this means that the Japanese would either have to dismount their guns, or keep their ships at home, or else risk a brush with the U. S. navy.

The whole tenor of the Roosevelt-Churchill conversations was that there was no use experimenting with any more appeasement, that Japan respected only armed might and would back down a lot quicker if shown that combined might by the United States and Great Britain.

Entertaining Royalty.

MRS. LOUISE ATWILL, wife of the Hollywood actor, recently kidded several cabinet members by calling them on the phone in the guise of the overseas operator and saying that Winston Churchill wanted to speak to them "reversing the charges." The other day Mrs. Atwill got a telephone call herself.

"This is the British embassy," said a very British feminine voice over the phone. "I am speaking for Lord and Lady Halifax. They would like to know if Mrs. Atwill would care to give a dinner for Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt. The Duke of Kent would like to attend also."

"I'd be delighted," replied Mrs. Atwill, recognizing the voice. "And tell Lord Halifax that I'll have a high-chair for the Duke of Kent."

The voice was that of Julia Chetwynd, niece of Lord and Lady Halifax, who reported that the British embassy had been convulsed over the fake Atwill calls to the Roosevelt cabinet. Secretary Ickes had refused to speak to "Mr. Churchill" if the call was collect.

Bubbling Beaverbrook.

LORD BEAVERBROOK began a hectic day the minute his plane landed in Washington, and one thing which kept bothering him all day long was a phone call from Ben Smith in Loredo, Texas. The indefatigable Mr. Smith kept calling from a pay station, telling British embassy attaches that he must talk to Beaverbrook. But they wouldn't connect him. . . . Reposing in Lord Halifax's lap, a daschhund pup named "Franklin" attracted almost as much attention as Beaverbrook when he posed for the news-reels. The pup was a gift from Lord to Lady Halifax, and got his name because he came into their lives on Franklin Roosevelt's birthday. . . . Lord Beaverbrook describes himself as "the biggest borrower on the cuff you've ever met," and as "the medium through which you shower your benefits upon the British." . . . Captain Jimmy Roosevelt has been loaned by the Marine Corps to Colonel William Donovan, Coordinator of Military Intelligence, whose offices are in the shadow of the White House on Pennsylvania Avenue.

Steel Showdown.

THE OPM and the steel industry finally have taken drastic steps to regulate supplies and increase capacity, but it took all kinds of nagging by the government to get them to do it.

One of the most spectacular of these nagging sessions took place in the OPM board room recently and was attended by Eugene Grace of Bethlehem Steel; Tom Girdler of Republic; Ernest Weir of Weirton; Irving Olds, new head of U. S. Steel, together with Ed Stettinius, the old head; Leon Henderson; Knudsen; and representatives from the army, navy and maritime commission.

The steel manufacturers immediately put the government representatives on the defensive with the question: "Well, what do you want us to do? Cut off all steel to the consumer?"

Price Administrator Henderson replied that such a curtailment would be disastrous, that steel to the consumer could not be cut off right away. Other government representatives hemmed and hawed. So did the ship-builders. The meeting got nowhere.

Finally Admiral Emory Land, relative of ex-Colonel Lindbergh, but no believer in his views, got up. Land, chairman of the maritime commission, is a close friend of Bethlehem's Eugene Grace. But looking at Grace and the other steel manufacturers, the admiral gave them a dressing down he might have given to his own sailors.

"I've been listening to you for two hours," he said, "and I'm fed up with it. I don't know what the fault is, or whose fault it is. But I do know that the shipyards are four to six weeks behind because they haven't got steel. And I also know that if you fellows want to, you can correct that shortage.

"You've been talking about expanding your plants. Now if you mean business, instead of talking about it—expand."

Next day the steel manufacturers announced their plan to build new factories and expand production.

Churchill Chaff.

WHITE HOUSE press secretary Steve Early kept it to himself, but privately he was sore at the bungling of Churchill-Roosevelt press relations. If they had left it to him, the result would have been different. . . . American editors resented the fact that first news of the meeting broke in London. A lot of other Americans resented the idea that news about their own president had to come via the British censor. Roosevelt himself, not the British, was to blame, but the British had to take it on the chin just the same. . . . Another sour note was the refusal of the U. S. army to let U. S. photographers take pictures of Lord Beaverbrook arriving at Bolling Field. . . . Chief result of all this secrecy was public suspicion that a lot of entangling alliances were knotted which probably were not knotted.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—"Do you know," said Jesse L. Lasky, staring at the toes of his brown and white sport shoes without seeing them, "do you know, I was in New York when Mark Twain died. I was passing the church where the services were held. There must have been hundreds of people in the street, but it didn't mean a thing to me. I probably had a date with a blonde, and it didn't mean a thing. That's too bad."

What Mr. Lasky meant was that it was too bad he hadn't studied that crowd and that scene and photographed it in his mind, so that he would remember it always. He could use that scene, as it actually was, now. You see, Mr. Lasky is a film producer, and his next picture is going to be "The Adventures of Mark Twain." That's all he can talk about, or think about, and when he stares at the toes of his white and brown sport shoes, as I told you just now, all he sees is the face of the man who became a duellist, a soldier, a river pilot, a traveler, a wit, a lecturer, a debunker and a great, a very great. American.

If he reaches into his pockets for a cigar or a match a sheaf of notes on Twain's life comes tumbling out. He and his aides have spent months digging into the lesser known experiences of Samuel L. Clemens.

LOOK HERE," he said, look at this letter Mark Twain wrote to W. D. Howells, back in 1900 . . . What a prophet he was . . . He was talking about England and the Boer war, but it could apply equally as well today . . ." He handed me a copy of the letter that he, Lasky, had uncovered in some old Mark Twain files . . . .

"Every day I write (in my head)," wrote Mark Twain, "bitter magazine articles about it, but I have to stop with that. For England must not fall; it would mean an inundation of Russian and German political degradations which would envelop the globe and steep it in a sort of Middle-age night and slavery, which would last till Christ comes again. Even wrong—and she is wrong—England must be upheld. He is an enemy of the human race who shall speak against her now!"

WHEN you talk of Mark Twain with Lasky you talk with a man whose enthusiasm for his subject rivals that of a sourdough glimpsing his first lode . . . "In a few days I'm going out to Hannibal, Missouri, where Mark Twain lived, and I'm going to float down the Mississippi and try to recapture some of the scenes he saw every day . . . I want to hear those voices taking soundings on the river, calling "Mark one . . . mark twain . . ."

"Do you know," exclaimed the man who just got through bringing the life of another great American—that of Sgt. York—to the screen, "do you know, Mark Twain lived 75 years . . . He came into the world with Halley's Comet, and he went out when Halley's Comet came again . . . Do you know, his wife never called him anything but Youth . . . That's the only name she ever addressed him by—Youth. For a short time Mark Twain was in the Confederate army . . . He was a great guy, a great personality."

We told Mr. Lasky that undoubtedly he had something there. We also suggested Spencer Tracy for the title role . . . when he gets around to the actual casting . . . Somehow, Tracy fits Mark Twain like Clark Gable fitted Rhett Butler . . . It's one of those things . . . At least, that's how we feel about it. We have a hunch Spencer Tracy sort of feels that way too.

A Farmer's Diary

Report on Sales

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

ONE of every farmer's worries is to get and keep a market for his stuff. I have never had much trouble selling things to eat. Somebody always wants a basket of ripe tomatoes, or a bushel of perfect apples or a good, sweet cantaloupe, ripened on the vine. I huckstered for a while. A man who sells food has all the innate advantage of the other fellow's healthy appetite. If you happen along near mealtime, with something to be eaten right away, and the man of the house is at home, and hungry, you'll make a sale. The best way to market fresh eggs and homemade butter is to get yourself a chain of regular customers in town, who will pay the market price for the freshest, best perishable food, delivered.

But writing is different. Unless you've been a farmer-columnist, you'll never know what a funny feeling a fellow has trying to sell something he himself has written about the farm. In the first place, all he knows about the quality of his product is that it's the best he can do. What he'd like is a chain of regular customers, just as he does for eggs and cream—nice, humanish newspapers, with plenty of readers who grew up on farms, and so know what a man means by green manure or sheep dip.

From all I can find out, the other columnists don't sell their own product. They market it through a syndicate—sort of a co-operative—that takes their whole output and puts it up in fancy labels, or leaves it in storage until the demand gets bigger or it comes into season again.

Without exception all my literary friends advised me to try doing the same. And I did—but all the syndicates I tried seemed to think my stuff was too green and fresh and dewy. I didn't find a single syndicate, so far, that ever lived on a farm.

So, being Dutch, and having huckstered some, I started out last week with some of the letters you folks have written and some clippings and photographs, in a big envelope, to sell this column to a few more newspapers. You see, I need the money.

I traveled four days—in three states—and made four sales. One thing helped me out. Contrary to all the bunk that they put into print about themselves being hard boiled, editors have hearts. I have never found any class of men more tolerant of other people's best efforts, more anxious to give a break, or more intuitive of sincerity. The funny thing is, the bigger the editor, the more fun he is to meet. I guess that may be why he's a big editor.

WEAK SPOTS IN ARMY SHOWN BY ARKANSAS 'WAR'

Observer Finds Delay In River Crossing, 'Leaks' In Blackout Maneuver.

I mentioned this to one officer who replied:

"That's not too tragic. These troops are here to learn and they will do better next time."

The engineers threw two foot bridges across the stream in 25 minutes and then set up a heavy pontoon bridge supposed to support 13 tons. They were working with pontoons that weighed 1,850 pounds each but they seemed to handle them efficiently, lacing them together and then connecting them with approaches from the bank.

There was a slip, however, when equipment began to move out onto the bridge. The approaches had been placed on the sloping river bed and they slipped, causing about three hours delay while they were relocated.

The troops were moving into a maneuver area of 1,200 square miles where the second army for the next two weeks will conduct maneuvers preparatory to the September games when the second army meets the third in the climax of the biggest show the army ever attempted.

Preceding the units that I watched cross the Little Missouri were strong detachments which went over in small assault boats to "cleanse" the area around the bridge head so that the enemy could not shell the troops during the crossing.

Involved in this entire action are about 35,000 soldiers, members of the seventh corps. It is assigned to protect the main body of the second army which lies behind it and to the east.

Under the tactical problem outlined these units are to make repeated thrusts against the enemy until Saturday when, under the pressure of superior enemy strength they will withdraw and join the remainder of the second army for the next phase of the maneuvers.

Everything is being done to give the officers and men a taste of what actual war-time campaigning is like—1941 style. With this in view several squadrons of navy dive bombers undertook a dive-bombing attack on the new position of the 33rd and 35th. It was the first time that dive bombing had been used in army maneuvers in this country.

Officials Deny Army Suffers Low Morale

PRESCOTT, Ark. —(NS)— Charges that America's new army suffers from poor morale drew prompt and in some instances angry denial today from ranking officials of the second and third armies, gathered in the southwest for gigantic maneuvers starting next month.

Most emphatic in defense of the army was Lieut. Gen. Ben Lear, commmander of the second army, who denied there was anything lacking in the morale of his men but added:

"If the army morale is low . . . it is because the morale of the people is poor. Many of our people have grown soft through years of easy living. They are weak-minded, some of them, and they don't want to put out. If the army is soft, so is the nation."

Lieut. Gen. Walter Krueger, commander of the third army, declared he is proud of his men and said "the public would be, too, if they knew of the problems these soldiers have solved uncomplainingly."

"I have talked to more than 200,000 men," General Krueger added, "and found morale at the highest—no crabbing. Each man is proud of his outfit, and they are ready to shoot the works."

cycle dispatch riders whizzed by at frequent intervals as the mechanized column progressed. Low-slung, highspeed "jeeps," filled with steel-helmeted officers and men, roamed the highways in all directions.

Further realism came into the scene when Private James D. Robinson, 20, was killed when his tank overturned. As in real war the accident didn't stop the advance of the Blue forces moving from northern Louisiana to repel, an "invasion" of Red forces which have landed their forces on the gulf coast and are moving northward.

The war games are just entering their first phase with the third army engaging in open maneuvers involving only its own troops preparatory to the climax of the show which comes when the third army meets the second army in September.

Lieut. Gen. Walter Krueger, commander of the third army, has instructed each of his commanding generals in charge of the Red and the Blue forces as to the tactical situation but beyond that each commander is left to his own devices. This technique constitutes "open" maneuvers as opposed to "controlled" maneuvers wherein umpires direct each force as to what their movements shall be.

The opening phases are expected to test the Blue tanks against the Red cavalry over terrain suitable for both.

The army has leased 20,000,000 acres of land for the maneuvers and a claims board has been set up to pass on damage claims arising from the passage of troops.

General Captured By His Own Men

WITH THIRD ARMY IN LOUISIANA —(AP)— Lieut.-General Walter Krueger, commander of the third army, knows how it feels to be captured by his own men.

The general, a non-combatant in war games ran into a trap last night set by cavalry troops of the eighth corps, and it was necessary to bring up a maneuver umpire to have him released.

"I never saw so many sawed-off shotguns in my life," the general said.

The two cavalry troops from Fort Bliss, Tex., half on horseback and half in "jeeps," penetrated 12 miles into enemy fifth corps territory.

They set up a trap on an important highway and in the gathering dusk captured a convoy of 1,000 men being moved up to the front with full equipment, including tons of food and field kitchens.

General Kreuger's limousine, with its triple-starred pennon, ran unsuspectingly into the blockade. Despite his protests, he was kept covered by Lieutenants Jeff Hollis and Mike Davidson, commanding the cavalry, until the umpire arrived.

SHERIFF SELLS 13 PROPERTIES

Real Estate Sells For Less Than Third of Taxes Due on Them.

Thirteen properties in the West Ausdale section of Mansfield and seven in Shelby had been sold today by Sheriff Frank E. Robinson for a total of $1,835, or less than one-fourth of the delinquent taxes due on them.

The lots were sold on an $8,341 judgement obtained by County Treasurer John E. Kolb. Four lots in the West Ausdale district failed to attract bidders. Two Mansfield lots were involved in a judgment against Ralph Allenbaugh and others and the Shelby properties were owned by J. W. Mykrantz and others.

The Shelby lots brought $330, or $10 less than the amount of back taxes due on them. Purchasers and the amounts they paid were:

Herbert Welker, $45; Harriett Welker, $35; John Landis, $100; W. L. Thurman, three lots, $130; E. W. Shade, $20.

Buyers of the Mansfield properties were:

Miss Mary Newcomer, five lots for $500; Howard Sword, two lots for $225; H. A. Snider, $100; Robert W. Lyons, $100; W. S. Reynolds, $30; R. E. Gerisch, $350; R. W. Hagan, $100, and Ray Fields, $100.

SMITHIES SCARCE

FORT RILEY, Kas. — (U.P.) — There wasn't a blacksmith among the thousands of young soldiers inducted into the army at Fort Riley. But the army has to have horses and horses have to have shoes. So a course for blacksmiths was started and more than 75 enlisted men were trained for three months in the technique of shoeing horses.

Poisons Baby Son

While her four-months-old son lay seriously ill in a hospital, Mrs.. Catherine. Keiper,. 21, above, of Cleveland, pleaded not guilty to a charge of poisoning the infant by giving him half a teaspoonful of liquid disinfectant. Previously, police said, she had admitted feeding the baby the disinfectant because she "wanted to make him good and sick so the hospital would take care of him.

LEGION SET TO PICK OFFICERS

Two Hour Parade Staged In Youngstown, Milo Warner Will Speak Today.

YOUNGSTOWN —(NS)— After staging the longest parade ever seen in Youngstown, Ohio American Legionnaires today prepared to close their four-day convention with the election of officers. Milo Warner, American Legion head, is expected to deliver the main address at the concluding session.

The two-hour parade followed a business meeting where Legionnaires heard R. Emmett Howe of Cincinnati and L. V. Boardman, head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation of Cleveland.

Howe, representing the National Association of Manufacturers declared, "there are those within our borders who seek to use this national emergency as a means of furthering creeping collectivism."

Boardman told the Legion they must help to be the eyes and ears of the comparatively small force of federal agents now protecting the United States internally.

During the business session, Legionnaires selected Cleveland as the convention next year. They voted, also, to seek establishment of reserve officers' training corps in all Ohio high schools to prepare youth for national defense.

ANN OHLER BECOMES BRIDE MONDAY NIGHT

Single Ring Service Read at 7 O'Clock at Parish House of First Lutheran Church for Miss Ohler and Mr. Leatherow.

IN A QUIET SERVICE solemnized last evening at 7 o'clock in the parish house of the First Lutheran church Miss Ann Ohler became the bride of William Leatherow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elza Leatherow of McKay, O. Twenty-five relatives and friends witnessed the single ring service which was read by Rev. Grover Swoyer. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Ohler, 304 East Fourth street.

For her wedding Miss Ohler wore a white crepe street length frock with white accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. Her attendant, Miss Nellie Reed, close friend and schoolmate of the bride, wore a blue lace street length frock with white accesories. Her corsage was of pink roses. Best man for Mr. Leatherow was Don Landis of Haysville.

Immediately following the nuptials a reception was held at the bride's home for 30 guests. The serving table was centered with a tiered wedding cake and tall lighted white tapers. Garden flowers decorated the home. Late in the evening the couple left for a trip to Niagara Falls and other eastern points of interest. Upon their return they will reside in Hayesville.

Mrs. Leatherow has been a student at the Mansfield Senior high school. Mr. Leatherow was graduated from Loudonville high school and is employed at the Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company.

Out-of-town guests present were Mrs. Arthur Pomerson of Sandusky and Mr and Mrs. Robert Barr of Bellville.

Black And White Always Chic

Left, cross-barred black crepe dress; center, black chiffon dinner gown; right, black sheer

By SUSAN BARDEN
International Illustrated News Writer.

THE EVER CHIC and slimming black dress is an important item of the mid-season collections. Combined with white this fashion may put all the bright colors back into the accessory class as far as town wear is concerned.

Last spring was a season of startling colors that had young and old decked out in fuchsias and great expanses of bright reds, greens and purples, so the new but perennially popular black and white is a cool and serene choice for the remaining hot days and the first weeks of fall.

In case you are crazy for color, you'll find that the smart good taste and ladylike appearance that is always the result of black will only give you further opportunities to go good and gay on your costume jewelry and other accessories, without ever having the feeling that you have gotten your ensemble into a gypsy jumble.

Another delightful point about these styles is that they will look well under a fur coat and are excellent for travelling by train, plane or motor. They do not get that soiled, crumpled look, and if you are wise enough to carry along an extra white collar to put on your dress after you have reached your destination, you will have that fresh as a daisy look.

Three Perfect Examples.

The three frocks in the above photographs are perfect examples of both daytime and afternoon dresses in black and white.

Ida Lupino has selected a one-piece black sheer dress that is accented with a white pique collar and cuffs. It has elbow-length sleeves and closes in self buttons down to the beltline in front. The skirt is tucked in front to give graceful fullness. With this she wears a dip-brimmed sailor hat with a crown of white and a brim of black. Stiffened black and white ribbon is used for trim and add a crisp note. White gauntlet gloves complete the outfit.

For warm daytime wear Monca Maris has chosen a cross-barred black crepe dress with a bias cut shirt and yoked top. The collar is faced with white pique and the dress has three-quarter length sleeves. The hat is just off white and is lined with black. White gloves are worn with this costume.

Joan Leslie is modelling a charming and flattering dinner dress that will be a success either on hotel roof tops or country club verandas. It is made of black chiffon with a trimly turned collar and cuffs of white organdie and huge leafy appliques on the skirt in the same fabric. Quilted white satin leaves are encrusted on the organdie.

So whether it's night or day, you may still look both smart and glamorous in the new black and white fashions of midsummer.

New Type Of Fall Frock

Hold that skirt! It's a drindl, in red with imaginative blue trim to match the sweater. The sweater idea is new—a bolero-fronted hug-me-tight affair that displays a good neckline to advantage. Dorna Whittingham design.

Nuptials Held At Paradise Hill On Saturday, Aug. 16

Announcement is being made of the marriage of Miss Virginia M. Kauffman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kauffman of Savannah and Steve Mansfield, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Mansfield, sr., of Bellville. The single ring service was solemnized Saturday, Aug. 16, at the Paradise Hill church at 2 o'clock with Rev. Arehart officiating.

Attending the couple were Miss La Donna Kauffman, sister of the bride, and Joseph Apsolon.

Miss Kauffman wore a powder blue frock with navy and white accessories and a corsage of pink roses and blue delphinium. Miss LaDonna Kauffman's frock was yellow and she wore a corsage of baby breath and yellow pompoms.

The bride was graduated from Ashland high school and has been employed at the J. J. Newberry company in Ashland. Mr. Mansfield attended Bellville high school and is employed at the Ohio Brass company.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents. The guests were served at small tables placed on the lawn. Garden flowers decorated the home. Forty-five were in attendance for the nuptial party. Mr. and Mrs. Mansfield will reside at R. D. 2, Bellville.

Greasy Pots May Be Done Daintily

Greasy pots and pans have been the bane of the homemaker for generations. The boiler, the frying pan, and the stew pot are always saved until the very end of the dishwashing, which is quite correct, but we suspect that the original reason for putting them at the tail end of the precedure was the housewife's natural reluctance to get at these utensils.

Washing the pots and pans need not be a messy or distasteful task. By following a few simple directions it can become almost as pleasant as washing the fine china.

The first thing to do is to pour out the grease while the pan is still hot and the fat is still in the liquid stage. If the fat is reusable, such as vegetable shortening, pour it into a earthenware jar. If it cannot be used again, pour it into an empty tin can which can be disposed of with the other household rubbish. Then fill the pan with hot soapy water until dishwashing time.

If the water cools and the small remaining amount of grease hardens, heat it for a minute or so on the stove, and pour the water down the drain. Wash the pan in the usual way in the dishpan, using suds as hot as possible. If a dishmop is used it will be quite unnecessary for the hands to touch the pan or the steaming water. Rinse thoroughly with clear hot water, and then dry.

Miss Jean Foster Weds Mr. Gene Bright Today

Miss Jean Foster, 110 Willow street, daughter of Edward M. Foster, Roseland, exchanged nuptial vows with Gene Bright, son of Rev. and Mrs. George S. Bright of Lucas today at 1:30 o'clock. Rev. Stacey, pastor of the Lutheran church in Lucas, officiated at the ceremony which was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Wymond, 110 Willow street.

For her wedding the bride was attired in a maroon street length frock with black and white accessories. She wore a corsage of white rosebuds. Attending the couple were Mrs. Marjorie Esto, sister of the bride, and Andrew Bright, brother of the bridegroom, of Lucas. Mrs. Esto was attired in a beige frock with brown accessories and wore a corsage of yellow and white roses.

The ceremony was performed before an improvised altar decorated with assorted shades of gladioli. Following the ceremony a reception was held for 25 guests. Buffet luncheon was served from a long table decorated with garden flowers and lighted white tapers. The table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

The bride is a graduate of Johnsville high school. Mr. Bright is a graduate of Lucas high school and is employed at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company. After the reception the couple left for a short wedding trip to Beulah, Mich., to visit the bridegroom's father. For traveling the bride wore a powder blue tailored suit with pink accessories. Upon their return they will reside at 110 Willow street.

What Is This Thing Called Charm

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

How does it go, that famous quotation about fame? Is it, "Some are born great, some achieve greatness and some have greatness thrust upon 'em"? The same might be said about charm, which half a dozen high school girls have asked me to define. It seems to me that charm, like love, is impossible to describe in cold word.

We experienced it, but when it comes to a definition exact as a blueprint, it floats away like thistledown. As someone has said, "A pretty face is the best introduction," but we are often introduced to a lovely girl and have no interest in keeping up the acquaintance. So, as far as downright beauty is concerned, it's useful, but not necessary to charm.

The lovely face that has attracted us may carry a sawdust brain behind the marble brow. Her loveliness may be so dull, stupid and lacking in understanding that we're delighted to sidestep the beautiful bore. Besides, these days, we have something known as "synthetic beauty." There aren't any really ugly women any more, unless they are too dull or too indifferent to make the most of themselves the beauty parlor—no wonder it has risen to its eminent place in the nation's industries!—transforms the plainest woman into something much easier on the eyes. An instinctive or acquired knowledge of how color and line may accentuate one's good points goes hand-in-glove with the beauty parlor.

Unless a woman is a born fright, her appearance may register on the charm side today. All said and done, intelligence is a greater asset to charm than beauty. Intelligence indicates the possession of tact, that most wonderful of human assests. It makes one say and do the right thing at the right time; to learn how to avoid pitfalls of speech; to listen to the long-winded without squirming, when one's preference would be taking a chance in going over Niagara Falls in a barrel.

Gracious hospitality, even when one is poor, is a tremendous asset to charm. I recall a lady, once an outstanding Washington hostess. With the death of her husband, who had been in the seats of the mighty, this lady's income dropped to the vanishing point. But never did one hear a murmur or complaint, or regret for the past glories that were hers.

She kept her baby at home, though she lived in a tiny apartment, and there was always fragrant tea, crisp buttered toast, and homemade cake, and people continued to visit this grandame who lived on the bleak shores of poverty because she was charming, uncomplaniing, and her hospitality was the best of its kind.

If you would be charming, learn how to sell yourself to people. Don't tell the wrong kind of story to the wrong audience. Learn to be sympathetic. Avoid familiarity, which several poets have said in several ways, breeds contempt. Learn to write good letters, answer invitations, write letters of condolence when relatives of your friends die, and letters of congratulation when there is something to be congratulated about.

Don't rub people's fur the wrong way. Try and leave them with a satisfied feeling that they aren't flops, failures, or bores, that you at least enjoy their society. This simple prescription leaves us all purring like cats stroked the right way.

Cottage Lamb Pie a Quickie For Hot Days

By BETSY NEWMAN

Does any roast of meat last like a leg of lamb? I serve it hot, cold, hashed, soup, etc., hoping the family won't get tired of it. The cottage lamb pie is just another tasty way to finish up the last of it.

Today's Menu.

Cottage Lamb Pie
Creamed Cauliflower
Orange and Onion Salad
Sliced Peaches Fudge Brownies
Iced Tea

Cottage Lamb Pie

2 cups cooked lamb, cubed
2 cans Scotch Broth
½ cup water
3 cups mashed potatoes

Cut lamb into inch cubes, combine meat, soup and water and simmer 5 minutes. Pour into casserole, cover with mashed potatoes and bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 15 minutes. Serves 6.

Fudge Brownies.

1 cup sugar
¼ cup butter
¼ cup milk
½ teaspoon all-phosphate baking powder
¾ cup flour
¼ teaspoon salt
2 squares chocolate
1 cup chopped nut meats
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs

Cream butter and sugar, add milk, beaten eggs, flour, salt and chocolate, melted; then add nuts and vanilla. Blend thoroughly, spread ¼ inch thick on shallow greased pan and bake 15 minutes in moderate oven. Cut into squares while warm.

High Style Fashions, Fancy Work

By MARIAN MARTIN

Doing your "homework" is really a pleasure—if you've a good supply of neat, crisp aprons. The high-curving side skirt sections give smooth fit. Take your choice of two versions: one with a V-shaped neck and straps cut in-one with the rest of the bodice; the other in squared plastron style. A buttoned, rounded back yoke makes the garment easy to don. Ric-rac, ruffling and buttons are all nice trimming ideas for this apron.

Pattern 9599 may be ordered only in sizes small (32-34), medium (36-38) and large (40-42) Small size, apron A, requires 2⅛ yards 35 inch fabric and 1½ yards ric-rac; apron B, 2 yards 35 inch fabric and 1⅜ yard ruffling.

Send 15 cents in coins for this Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your size, name, address, and style number.

Send your order to The Newsfield News-Journal Pattern Department, 232 W. 18th St., New York, N. Y.

Send ten cents in coin for this pattern to The Mansfield News-Journal Needlecraft Dept. 82, Eighth avenue, New York, N. Y. Write plainly pattern number, your name and address.

Informal Clothes Popular With Movie Stars

By ORRY-KELLY

Famous Hollywood Stylist Writing For (INS).

HOLLYWOOD — Good taste was paramount in the clothes top-notchers Ann Sheridan and Dorothy Lamour chose for their current vacations, when Ann hied away to Las Vegas, Nev., for a week and Dorothy to Honolulu for several weeks.

Interesting quirk of the situation is that while Dorothy is climbing into Island-ish togs Ann has just climbed out of some similar screen versions for her role in "Navy Blues" with an Hawaiian locale.

Subject of this picture reminds me too that among the play clothes Ann packed for her trip to the ranch country is the lemon yellow silk jersey bathing suit she wears in one of the scenes. It was immediately added to her personal wardrobe after inspiring more compliments than any of the spicy clothes Howard Shoup conceived for the lovely Ann. What's more the long-sleeved, turtle-necked yellow jersey sweater for after-swimming puts the outfit in the extraordinary class.

With relaxation her aim Ann didn't take one flimsy dress with her.

A jacket dress is interesting and in an interesting purple waffle pique. The jacket carries lapels of rough natural linen, the dress has pointed cap sleeves and there's a six-inch monogram on the bodice to identify the lady. This is also natural linen trim.

For riding, out of three typical rancherette's outfits, she'll wear a pair of dark brown dungarees, a light brown wool shirt with the sleeves rolled up, a maroon belt studded with silver conches and a miniature lasso hung on the side, and brown jodphur boots.

Edith Head designed most of Dorothy's clothes, enough to put her in line for all "best-dressed" honors.

There's a smart mustard yellow crepe dress with slim skirt, short sleeves and bloused bodice with which Dorothy wears a white crepe Rajah turban and white and gold costume jewelry.

One bathing suit is in black lastex with white linen beach coat. Exotic black arrows are appliqued on the coat sleeves.

Miss Lamour combines pink and black in a new way using a pink turban to pick up the brilliant shade of pink in a black and pink floral print. Other accessories are black.

A white cotton one-piece dress shows two royal-blue flags embroidered just beneath each shoulder. Dorothy carries a large cotton bag in royal blue and wears royal blue sandals and a perky bow of blue linen in her hair.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"Because," I said slowly, "Noel has old-fashioned ideas of chivalry. He has been looking at Redfield as a rival. Now that he finds out he has no reason for his jealousy, he is terribly ashamed of the exhibition he has made of himself, and there is a compulsion upon him to make some sort of atonement to Redfield. The first opportunity he had was when you gave him your revelations concerning the man and he felt in duty bound to discount them."

"I'll discount him, and then some," Mary declared hotly. "Scare me nearly to death with his determination to wipe Steve off the face of the earth, and then stage a chivalric disbelief in what I tell him about my valorous leading man! But he needn't worry. I'll not tell him anything more."

"But I shall, and soon," I said briskly. "He will listen to me, I am sure, especially when I give some data of my own concerning Redfield."

Mary Is Surprised.

"You, too, know things about Steve?" she queried. "What? How long?"

"Just tonight," I told her.

"From that question he asked about Bickett? I knew the reason he gave for the interview was phony."

"You are right," I told her. "The interview had nothing to do with his role. And from it came the Bickett question, which must be investigated at once. The rest of my information came from another source. I'll tell you about it later. Just now, I'm waiting to hear two things from you—what became of Redfield after he left this suite with you, and what you have learned about him which you think will be considered grounds of dismissal by your father-in-law?"

"Your first question won't take long to answer," she said, and there was a touch of malice in her voice. "Little Stevie was positively green with fright, and when he heard me give Father Veritzen your message about parking him in some distant room, where Noel couldn't find him, he fairly fawned upon Papa until they left the apartment. And did he give me a dirty look before he left!

"Perhaps you heard what I whispered to him in here, and the promise I made him that I'd see he had a chance to thrash things out with Noel later."

"Perhaps I did," I told her. "Did your father-in-law come back to see you after—"

"After he had parked Steve for the rest of the night—or morning?" Mary interpolated. "Surest thing you know. He said he had followed your directions by putting Redfield into a room whose location couldn't be discovered.

Veritzen Waiting Developments.

"I told him about Noel's barging in, that you were managing him, and that you wanted me to come over after ten minutes. He said okay. Of course he didn't put it that crudely, but he signified his intention of staying put in the other suite to await developments. In fact, he's still over there."

"What!" I exclaimed. "Where's Olga?"

"Asleep, let us hope," Mary replied, "in the most luxurious suite in the hotel, the one reserved for the owner. Olina is with her, but dear Felipe has a desire to be in on everything, especially on Grandpa Spencer's arrival."

"Oh, dear!" I exclaimed involuntarily.

"I know," Mary said sympathetically. "He'll be like—to use that hoariest of all similies—the bull in the china shop."

"Not so bad as that, Mary," I said. "And Father is used to dealing with him. But Nancy Carew is coming over to see Father, and naturally, she won't want Philip to see her."

GOOD FOR BABY

It's a good idea to buy strained baby foods in gleaming glass containers. A very tiny baby eats only a half a jar of pureed fruit or vegetable at a meal, and the remainder can be kept in the sanitary jar without any necessity for its being transferred to a dish. This not only keeps the food in good, fresh condition but saves the washing of an extra dish.

HOW TO KEEP FOOD

To preserve foods properly keep the meat and dairy products in the coldest part of the refrigerator and the high-moisture content vegetables in the hydrator that the new refrigerators provide for that purpose. Berries should be removed from their box and spread out flat on a plate or piece of paper. Meat should be unwrapped, as the wrapping heightens the growth of bacteria.

Teen Age Girls Postures Need Attention

By MME. QUI VIVE

Take them by and large—and they're larger than their mothers were at their age—the 'teen-age girls are healthy, vigorous, colorful human beings. They got their vitamins when they were babies and they are still getting them. Complexions, as a rule, are good. Tresses are attractively arranged. We have one beauty bone to pick with them; they pay no heed to posture. They slump in chairs, they sprawl, they lope when they walk. Not all of them, but many.

Those who are inclined to be arty throw their shoulders forward, let their chests cave in, seldom make an attempt to flatten their tummies. It is a crying shame. Figures are in the making until growth is attained. How the figure is carried is important.

Here we have a situation that should arouse mothers to action. Of course, Youth is always the party of opposition. One must be gentle and kindly, offer suggestions, not given orders, else Youth will look down from its high place of Know-It-All and regard one as a silly old dodo.

The modern anatomical slouch that turns the outline of a pretty girl into a question mark is harmful. It means that the figure will soon have relaxed muscles around the waist; trimness and neatness of figure will vanish.

It should be impressed upon a girl's mind that when the prettiest frock is not worn splendidly, with figure vibrant and erect, it is nothing but a mess of dry goods. Well-cut lines fall into folds or evaporate. Whatever talent the designer put into the making of the little model won't show up for sour apples. It's not only the clothes that make the woman, but the way the clothes are worn.

Slouchy carriage transforms a girl into the chiffon type. Very sad! We all know that there is nothing like vitality to create personality. Boys like girls who are wholly alive; girls of that kind are bound to enjoy better mental health than the slinky wraiths who drape themselves over a chair, drag around as if they were bored with themselves and the world. Maybe they are.

Physical vitality makes for mental charm, bright eyes, quick steps. It makes a girl a more animated and interesting companion.

Unless posture is correct, the back takes on ugly lines. Unless the chest is carried high, the breasts will lose firmness. By keeping tall all the time—walking, standing or sitting—the interlacing muscles from the ribs down over the hips will remain strong and resilient, impart graceful lines to the feminine shape.

Come on now, you little slouchers. Discard the attitude of inertia. Get starlight in your eyes, color in your cheeks, skip in your heels.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

BY

"The Authority on Authorities"

NOT AN AUTOMATIC PLAY

MANY FAIR players who save a sketchey understanding of squeeze plays are prone to believe that they are usually automatic, with no particular preparation necessary to make them. If the squeeze is in the hand, that is the declarer's good luck, in their view, and all he has to do is run out his winners in his long suit, and let the squeeze operate on its own. That may be true sometimes, but plenty of squeezes require correct foresight and planning to make their execution possible.

	♠ K J 10 8 ♥ A K 6 2 ♦ K 8 5 ♣ K J
♠ A 5 ♥ 4 3 ♦ Q J 10 9 7 6 4 3 ♣ 3	W. N. E. S.	♠ 9 6 4 2 ♥ Q J 10 9 8 7 5 ♦ None ♣ Q 9
	♠ Q 7 3 ♥ None ♦ A 2 ♣ A 10 8 7 6 5 4 2

(Dealer: North. Both sides vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♣	3 ♦
3 ♥	Dbl	5 ♣	Pass

That same contract was reached at two duplicate tables. One South made exactly 6-Clubs, whereas the other made an extra trick, sending West to bed with the spade A, although both got the diamond Q lead, won by the A.

The one who failed to make the extra trick followed his winning of the diamond A with eight club tricks. When he played the last of them West had the two spades with which he started and the diamond 10-J-9. He tossed a diamond without any embarrassment. South then played a diamond to dummy's K and cashed the two top hearts, then had to give up the last trick. He had been obliged on the last club to throw either his spade K or diamond 8; whichever dummy retained would lose to West.

The other South, after taking the diamond A, laid down the club A and K, cashed the heart A and K for spade discards, and was ready for business with his squeeze properly prepared. Next he ruffed a heart and ran his other clubs. When he played the last, West had his spade A and diamond J-10. If he discarded the spade, dummy would throw the diamond 8 and take the last two tricks with the diamond K and spade K. If he discarded from the diamond J-10, North would throw off the spake K, which he did, taking the last two tricks with the diamond K and 8. Getting those two heart leads before playing for the squeeze had made the squeeze possible, so that West could not discard successfully.

Tomorrow's Problem.

Would you open the bidding of this deal on South's hand? If so, why? If you do so, what do you consider the best bidding from that point on?

"Baby Talk" Handicaps New Pupil

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Some children, however bright, may, on entering school, speak very indistinctly. Indeed, they may employ what the neighbors call "baby talk." This talk the parents and playmates may have understood and considered cute.

Yet this infantile speech handicaps the child and causes other school children to laugh at him or treat him as younger than he is.

Reading a great deal to a child will help him. Needless to say, the reader should take special pains to enunciate each word distinctly. Adults or older children can help this youngster improve his speech by prevailing on him to sound words after them. They must be skillful at this lest he refuse to practice when they wish him to. One can easily observe he sounds he gets wrong and then induce him to say words which include these difficult sounds.

A mother writes that her child nearly five has particular trouble with l and r. She was advised to repeat words, phrases and rhymes which contain those words beginning with l, as lamb, or ending in l, as ball.

Avoid Self-Consciousness.

It is a good plan to show him pictures of things involving these letters, and talk with him about them; or to draw such pictures in rough outline and have him draw them. When one engages the child in using such words in connection with an alluring activity he is far less likely to grow self-conscious.

It is very important that he does not grow self-conscious over his trouble with such sounds, that no one laughs at him, or refers to the matter in his presence.

The child may like to watch your tongue and lips as you make the hard-for-him sound, then to see your tongue and lip in the mirror and, finally, his own as he tries to imitate you. Encourage this child to play freely with other children about his age.

Stuttering.

In case your young child stutters do not aim at the same kind of correction as the foregoing. Instead, act as if you did not notice his stuttering. If, however, you know the word he is trying to get and cannot, say it for him nonchalantly.

Don't hold your breath when he stutters, nor stare at his mouth. Breathe at your normal rate and look elsewhere without show of concern. Work with your doctor to build this child up physically, checking his diet and routine habits, including sleep.

Work chiefly on yourself for calm and poise. Let more things about the house go. Get more rest, relaxation and sleep. Speak in soft, quiet tones and try to create a serene atmosphere in the family with lots of family fun which is not too exciting.

A list of books from which to read to the baby and young child may be had, without cost, by writing me at 235 East 45th Street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

HOROSCOPE

For Wednesday, August 20.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

An exciting, thrilling, surprising and not-to-be-forgotten state of affairs is read from the predominant aspects, in which all the forces and faculties move under high tempo to meet a series of events of an unforeseen and unpredictable Nature. Sudden upheaval, strange adventures, glamor and intrigue, hold sway in all human relations, business, professional, romantic, emotional, even spiritual, rising to curious crises of far-reaching effect.

Those whose birthday it is may not be surprised should a year of the unpredictable and unprecedented overwhelm them. This in their business, domestic, social, intellectual and emotional relations in life. There is an uprooting and shaking force at work, with side issues of the subtle, bewildering and curious, to dramatize the activities and to postpone the mysterious denouement into the distant future. Underneath are solid, dependable and enduring substrata promising stability and security despite vicissitude and hazard. Enjoyment and fair fortune should follow.

A child born on this day should be richly endowed with talents and abilities of a high and exceptional order. Its inspired and subtle genius may be fortified by reason.

HONEY-APRICOT MOUSSE

A good cool company dessert is "Honey-Apricot Mousse." It calls for:

1 large can of apricots
1½ cups of honey
2 egg whites stiffly beaten
1½ cups of cream, whipped
Juice of one lemon.

Drain the apricots and run them through a sieve. Add the honey and lemon juice. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites and then the whipped cream. Pour into the refrigerator tray and allow to freeze without stirring. This is an easy dessert to fix when guests are coming, and the above recipe makes ten to twelve servings.

HONEYED GRAPEFRUITS

For a very simple dessert or first course on a hot day, nothing tastes better than honeyed grapefruit. Just cut the grapefruits in half and remove the seeds and center. Chill the fruit and just before serving fill the center with honey. This is good if you're having a diet-conscious friend to lunch as honey is less fattening than other sweeteners. To make the fruit look dressy, notch the rind in a zig-zag pattern.

GEN. JOHNSON:

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON—As this column has predicted, now that the president has returned there is going to be a real attempt to reorganize the whole top-side control of industrial mobilization to cut out the almost scandalous lack of concern for the civilian population, confusion, cross-purposes, overlapping, jealousies, extravagance, back biting, palace politics, inefficiency and Donnybrook Fair kind of administration that has cursed the herculean multi-billion dollar effort to this date.

Johnson

As far as the president is concerned, it will be an earnest and sincere attempt to correct what might be called by history one of the blackest marks on his record.

He is thoroughly aware of the national dissatisfaction that is arising in this regard. In one of the most remarkably frank statements ever made by so able a politician he said, even before this stench arose and even on the eve of a political campaign, something to the effect that the weak joint in the New Deal harness was bad administration. Ain't it the truth?

And now we're going to fix it all up. And who do you suppose are now revealed as the architects of this new structure for the mobilization and administration of the great American industrial complex? None other than a couple of guys of the lighter and brighter days of presidential pleasantry toward the White House Jannissariat, when knights of that round-table were yclept by the boss even as King Arthur did, Henry the Morgue, (Morgenthau), Tommy the Cork, (Corcoran), Harry the Hop (Hopkins), Leon the Hen, (Henderson), Benny the Cone (Cohen), and Sammy the Rose (Rosenman), etc. The last two have been recalled to reorient the cosmic chaos of this industrial and economic universe.

It would be manifestly unfair to criticize their work, which has been shrouded in considerable secrecy, until we see the final product, but it is appropriate to question on what special kind of wisdom or experience these two specialists in a very different field could be expected to function in this one.

* * *

This is not said to disparage either of them. I scarcely know Mr. Cohen except by his handiwork. I know Sam Rosenman very well. I have known few men I liked better. Modest to a fault, he is the literary genius who has put the finishing and refining touches to most of the president's better speeches and to some of the very best of his state papers. He is an honest and an unusually able lawyer and a loyal, faithful friend—one of the sweetest characters in public life.

* * *

But what the hell does he know about industry, organization and especially the bedlam of present day Washington confusion?

* * *

The same question could be asked about Ben Cohen. Judging solely by his work, he is one of the cleverest legal draftsmen that ever effectively concealed a joker in a statute that should have been as obvious as a bull in a china shop. He has a mind as adroit and astute as that of Cardinal Richelieu.

* * *

These two, in closer collaboration with Sidney Hillman, another able Richelieu, than with anybody else, are baking this new pie. It may be perfection but just as a gamble, I'll bet it contains four and twenty black-birds and that when the pie is opened they will sing as stridently as the present flock.

Why can't we shake this business out into the open and get really going?

Southern Route to Speed Ferry Service

FDR EXPECTED TO MAKE FINAL PLEA IN STRIKE

Navy Seizure of Kearny Ship Plant Seen If Appeal Fails To End Stoppage.

(By United Press)

Defense officials believed today that President Roosevelt would make a final appeal for acceptance of mediation board recommendations before ordering government seizure of the strikebound Federal Shipbuilding and Drydock company at Kearny, N. J.

Government efforts to end the 12-day strike coincided with moves to draft a labor stabilization program for the Southern California aircraft industry and to dispel the threat of a strike which might cripple telephone communication.

An authoritative source said the president would send a final plea to the shipbuilding company to accept national defense mediation board recommendations for a "maintenance of union membership" clause in a proposed contract with the industrial union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers (CIO). The clause represented a compromise with the union demand for a closed shop.

Company rejection of the proposal precipitated the strike of 16,000 union members and halted construction on $493,000,000 worth of naval and mechant ships. Mr. Roosevelt discussed the work stoppage with defense aides yesterday, but the White House made no announcement.

If the president's appeal to the company should fail, it was understood an executive order would authorize the navy to operate the shipyard.

At New York, officials of the Western Electric company and the Association of Communication Workers agreed after conferences yesterday with Federal Conciliator James W. Fitzpatrick to meet at Washington Friday with a "super-panel" of conciliation officials.

The union conducted a strike vote among its 8,000 installation employes last week-end. Henry Mayer, union counsel, said other unions affiliated with the parent National Federation of Telephone Workers promised their members would refuse to pass picket lines. He said such action would paralyze telephone systems over the entire nation.

Up and Down THE STREET

Although Richland county employes will not be given a holiday to see the Richland county fair this week, workers in the Municipal building will be more fortunate. Mayor William J. Locke said today that in keeping with the annual custom, employes will be allowed to take Thursday afternoon off to visit the fair. C. L. Mitchell, chairman of the county commissioners, announced yesterday that county workers would not be given time off "because no one from the courthouse attended the fair."

The newcomer to the city was telling the family with whom she is living about a fine dish she had tasted at a downtown restaurant. It was called "sabotage," she said. This was a new one to the family and the young lady was asked to explain what was in it. Come to find out the ingredients were green corn and beans and the dish was old-fashioned succotash.

Brotherly love may be admirable but at some times costly. Lester and Robert Tucker, both Mansfielders, were fined $10 and costs each in municipal court yesterday after pleading guilty to street fighting. Both fines were paid by Lester and the brothers left the courtroom, reconciled.

* * *

His initials are J. R. H., and he may deny this story, but it seems he was in New Philadelphia yesterday and paid a call at a place where the owner was proud of his sunken garden. But J. R. H. sat on the porch and waited while two friends with him went to inspect the garden. So beautiful was it, under floodlights, that the friends called to J. R. H., and insisted that he join them. The grass was extremely wet, so J. R. H., a fastidious sort, took off shoes and socks and rolled up his trousers before he started from porch to garden. Where he had his mistake was in taking a short cut across the spacious yard instead of following the path. Why? Because he fell with a loud splash into the fish pond, which had four feet of water in it. He was, to put it mildly, annoyed. (Aside to J. R. H.: Your friend, J. A. H. didn't tell us this.)

U. S. TO SEND WARPLANES TO WEST AFRICA

Plan Seen as Neutralizing Dakar, Hint of Moves In Mediterranean.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — The United States promised Britain faster aerial aid in the middle east today by establishing a south Atlantic ferry service to shuttle American war planes to West Africa and thence to the front.

President Roosevelt's announcement that the service was being established was immediately given two interpretations:

An advance move to neutralize the value of the French base of Dakar if it should fall into German control; and

A revival of major activity in the now generally quiet Mediterranean theater of war.

The White House announcement last night asserted that "the importance of this line of communication between our country and strategic outposts in Africa cannot be overestimated."

Under the agreement concluded Pan American Airways would ferry the planes from the United States to West Africa and then on to the middle east.

To supplement the ferry service, Mr. Roosevelt disclosed, Pan American also was establishing a transport service covering the same routes. This will carry spare aircraft parts or other essential items, returning ferry personnel, and will be available for general commercial use between the United States and Africa.

The exact routes were not specified, but it was said that they were so arranged that they would not pass through any zone of actual warfare.

Bombers might be flown from Trinidad or some other nearby U. S. base, but shorter-range warplanes would require a closer hop-off point, preferably on the bulge of Brazil. In this connection, congressional sources only recently reported that negotiations were in progress with Brazil for the use of bases in that section.

HOLD DISTRICT MEETING HERE

Approximately 160 Farm Security Advisory council members from 13 Ohio counties will be in Mansfield Wednesday for an all-day school of instruction to be held at the American Legion home under the supervision of state and district officials of the organization.

Held to "develop an understanding of the objectives, policies and pertinent procedures of the Farm Security administration," the meeting will be in charge of Andrew L. Sorensen, state director, and Mrs. Irene H. Wolgamot, assistant director.

Sorensen will remain in Mansfield through Thursday to conduct a second meeting to be held on that day for 75 district farm debt adjustment committeemen. This meeting will also be held at the Legion home.

U. J. Austin, district rural rehabilitation supervisor, will be chairman of the Wednesday meeting opening at 9::30 a. m.

The farm debt adjustment committee meeting Thursday starts at 9:30 a. m., with Sorensen, and George D. Brooks, state farm debt adjustment supervisor, as the speakers.

BELIEVED MURDERED GIRL KNELT, BEGGED SLAYER TO SPARE HER

(By United Press)

CHANDLER, Okla. — Officers believed today that Billie Grayson, 18, a pretty choir singer, fell on her knees and begged a man to spare her life.

Her pleas were futile. The man strangled and stripped her. In the middle of the night, he took her nude body into lonely Oak Park cemetery, laid it on top of a grass-covered grave, folded her hands at her sides and rested her head against a granite tombstone.

The cemetery caretaker found the body yesterday, while he was mowing the grass. Today, officers hunted a swarthy thin-faced man of medium build. His description was the only clue they had.

Sheriff Marvin Roberts considered it likely that the killer is mad or a degenerate. The girl was not raped, but Roberts said she obviously was slain in a "fit of passion." Physicians set the time of the murder as midnight Sunday.

Miss Grayson and another girl were picked up on the road by a man Sunday night. The man finally let the other girl go, but he drove off with Miss Grayson while she screamed.

There were bruises and gravel marks on her knees, evidence, officers said, that she had knelt on a country road and begged for her life. Apparently she was garroted with her braided leather belt, the only article of her clothing missing.

Authorities theorized that he carried the body in his automobile to the cemetery, a mile west of Chandler. The cemetery is concealed by high shrubbery and trees.

Dr. J. W. Adams told a coroner's jury that she had been strangled and her neck broken, and her head, nose and mouth had been bruised.

The dead girl's father, Ed Grayson, radio mechanic at Stroud, Okla., believes his daughter was killed by someone she knew.

U. S. Questioned On Where She Got 6-Month-Old Baby

SPRINGFIELD—(INS)—A woman who claimed to be "a victim of her own Christian deed" was held today at the Springfield juvenile detention center while authorities investigated her story of how she came in possession of a six-month-old baby.

The woman, Mrs. Herbert R. Kirby, 41, who said she came from Springfield, Mo., to visit her bus-driver husband, called police yesterday and told them the following story:

En route to Ohio, she stopped at some small town—where she did not recall—to eat at a resturant. When she came out, the baby was on the seat of her coupe.

When taken to the juvenile detention home and questioned by Mrs. Olice L. Stewart, chief probation officer, she became hysterical, admitted her first story was false, and then asserted, authorities said, that the child was left with her by two young hitch-hikers she had picked up at East St. Louis.

GEN. JOHNSON:

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON—As this column has predicted, now that the president has returned there is going to be a real attempt to reorganize the whole top-side control of industrial mobilization to cut out the almost scandalous lack of concern for the civilian population, confusion, cross-purposes, overlapping, jealousies, extravagance, back biting, palace politics, inefficiency and Donnybrook Fair kind of administration that has cursed the herculean multi-billion dollar effort to this date.

Johnson

As far as the president is concerned, it will be an earnest and sincere attempt to correct what might be called by history one of the blackest marks on his record.

He is thoroughly aware of the national dissatisfaction that is arising in this regard. In one of the most remarkably frank statements ever made by so able a politician he said, even before this stench arose and even on the eve of a political campaign, something to the effect that the weak joint in the New Deal harness was bad administration. Ain't it the truth?

And now we're going to fix it all up. And who do you suppose are now revealed as the architects of this new structure for the mobilization and administration of the great American industrial complex? None other than a couple of guys of the lighter and brighter days of presidential pleasantry toward the White House Janissariat, when knights of that round-table were yclept by the boss even as King Arthur did, Henry the Morgue, (Morgenthau), Tommy the Cork, (Corcoran), Harry the Hop (Hopkins), Leon the Hen, (Henderson), Benny the Cone (Cohen), and Sammy the Rose (Rosenman), etc. The last two have been recalled to reorient the cosmic chaos of this industrial and economic universe.

It would be manifestly unfair to criticize their work, which has been shrouded in considerable secrecy, until we see the final product, but it is appropriate to question on what special kind of wisdom or experience these two specialists in a very different field could be expected to function in this one.

* * *

This is not said to disparage either of them. I scarcely know Mr. Cohen except by his handiwork. I know Sam Rosenman very well. I have known few men I liked better. Modest to a fault, he is the literary genius who has put the finishing and refining touches to most of the president's better speeches and to some of the very best of his state papers. He is an honest and an unusually able lawyer and a loyal, faithful friend—one of the sweetest characters in public life.

* * *

But what the hell does he know about industry, organization and especially the bedlam of present day Washington confusion?

* * *

The same question could be asked about Ben Cohen. Judging solely by his work, he is one of the cleverest legal draftsmen that ever effectively concealed a joker in a statute that should have been as obvious as a bull in a china shop. He has a mind as adroit and astute as that of Cardinal Richelieu.

* * *

These two, in closer collaboration with Sidney Hillman, another able Richelieu, than with anybody else, are baking this new pie. It may be perfection but just as a gamble, I'll bet it contains four and twenty black-birds and that when the pie is opened they will sing as stridently as the present flock.

Why can't we shake this business out into the open and get really going?

Southern Route to Speed Ferry Service

FDR EXPECTED TO MAKE FINAL PLEA IN STRIKE

Navy Seizure of Kearny Ship Plant Seen If Appeal Fails To End Stoppage.

(By United Press)

Defense officials believed today that President Roosevelt would make a final appeal for acceptance of mediation board recommendations before ordering government seizure of the strikebound Federal Shipbuilding and Drydock company at Kearny, N. J.

Government efforts to end the 12-day strike coincided with moves to draft a labor stabilization program for the Southern California aircraft industry and to dispel the threat of a strike which might cripple telephone communication.

An authoritative source said the president would send a final plea to the shipbuilding company to accept national defense mediation board recommendations for a "maintenance of union membership" clause in a proposed contract with the industrial union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers (CIO). The clause represented a compromise with the union demand for a closed shop.

Company rejection of the proposal precipitated the strike of 16,000 union members and halted construction on $493,000,000 worth of naval and mechant ships. Mr. Roosevelt discussed the work stoppage with defense aides yesterday, but the White House made no announcement.

If the president's appeal to the company should fail, it was understood an executive order would authorize the navy to operate the shipyard.

At New York, officials of the Western Electric company and the Association of Communication Workers agreed after conferences yesterday with Federal Conciliator James W. Fitzpatrick to meet at Washington Friday with a "super-panel" of conciliation officials.

The union conducted a strike vote among its 8,000 installation employes last week-end. Henry Mayer, union counsel, said other unions affiliated with the parent National Federation of Telephone Workers promised their members would refuse to pass picket lines. He said such action would paralyze telephone systems over the entire nation.

Although Richland county employes will not be given a holiday to see the Richland county fair this week, workers in the Municipal building will be more fortunate. Mayor William J. Locke said today that in keeping with the annual custom, employes will be allowed to take Thursday afternoon off to visit the fair. C. L. Mitchell, chairman of the county commissioners, announced yesterday that county workers would not be given time off "because no one from the courthouse attended the fair."

The newcomer to the city was telling the family with whom she is living about a fine dish she had tasted at a downtown restaurant. It was called "sabotage," she said. This was a new one to the family and the young lady was asked to explain what was in it. Come to find out the ingredients were green corn and beans and the dish was old-fashioned succotash.

Brotherly love may be admirable but at some times costly Lester and Robert Tucker, both Mansfielders, were fined $10 and costs each in municipal court yesterday after pleading guilty to street fighting. Both fines were paid by Lester and the brothers left the courtroom, reconciled.

* * *

His initials are J. R. H., and he may deny this story, but it seems he was in New Philadelphia yesterday and paid a call at a place where the owner was proud of his sunken garden. But J. R. H. sat on the porch and waited while two friends with him went to inspect the garden. So beautiful was it, under floodlights, that the friends called to J. R. H., and insisted that he join them. The grass was extremely wet, so J. R. H., a fastidious sort, took off shoes and socks and rolled up his trousers before he started from porch to garden. Where he had his mistake was in taking a short cut across the spacious yard instead of following the path. Why? Because he fell with a loud splash into the fish pond, which had four feet of water in it. He was, to put it mildly, annoyed (Aside to J. R. H.: Your friend, J. A. H. didn't tell us this.)

U. S. TO SEND WARPLANES TO WEST AFRICA

Plan Seen as Neutralizing Dakar, Hint of Moves In Mediterranean.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — The United States promised Britain faster aerial aid in the middle east today by establishing a south Atlantic ferry service to shuttle American war planes to West Africa and thence to the front.

President Roosevelt's announcement that the service was being established was immediately given two interpretations:

An advance move to neutralize the value of the French base of Dakar if it should fall into German control; and

A revival of major activity in the now generally quiet Mediterranean theater of war.

The White House announcement last night asserted that "the importance of this line of communication between our country and strategic outposts in Africa cannot be overestimated."

Under the agreement concluded Pan American Airways would ferry the planes from the United States to West Africa and then on to the middle east.

To supplement the ferry service, Mr. Roosevelt disclosed, Pan American also was establishing a transport service covering the same routes. This will carry spare aircraft parts or other essential items, returning ferry personnel, and will be available for general commercial use between the United States and Africa.

The exact routes were not specified, but it was said that they were so arranged that they would not pass through any zone of actual warfare.

Bombers might be flown from Trinidad or some other nearby U. S. base, but shorter-range warplanes would require a closer hop-off point, preferably on the bulge of Brazil. In this connection, congressional sources only recently reported that negotiations were in progress with Brazil for the use of bases in that section.

HOLD DISTRICT MEETING HERE

Approximately 160 Farm Security Advisory council members from 13 Ohio counties will be in Mansfield Wednesday for an all-day school of instruction to be held at the American Legion home under the supervision of state and district officials of the organization.

Held to "develop an understanding of the objectives, policies and pertinent procedures of the Farm Security administration," the meeting will be in charge of Andrew L. Sorensen, state director, and Mrs. Irene H. Wolgamot, assistant director.

Sorensen will remain in Mansfield through Thursday to conduct a second meeting to be held on that day for 75 district farm debt adjustment committeemen. This meeting will also be held at the Legion home.

U. J. Austin, district rural rehabilitation supervisor, will be chairman of the Wednesday meeting opening at 9:30 a. m.

The farm debt adjustment committee meeting Thursday starts at 9:30 a. m., with Sorensen, and George D. Brooks, state farm debt adjustment supervisor, as the speakers.

BELIEVED MURDERED GIRL KNELT, BEGGED SLAYER TO SPARE HER

(By United Press)

CHANDLER, Okla. — Officers believed today that Billie Grayson, 18, a pretty choir singer, fell on her knees and begged a man to spare her life.

Her pleas were futile. The man strangled and stripped her. In the middle of the night, he took her nude body into lonely Oak Park cemetery, laid it on top of a grass-covered grave folded her hands at her sides and rested her head against a granite tombstone.

The cemetery caretaker found the body yesterday, while he was mowing the grass. Today, officers hunted a swarthy thin-faced man of medium build. His description was the only clue they had.

Sheriff Marvin Roberts considered it likely that the killer is mad or a degenerate. The girl was not raped, but Roberts said she obviously was slain in a "fit of passion." Physicians set the time of the murder as midnight Sunday.

Miss Grayson and another girl were picked up on the road by a man Sunday night. The man finally let the other girl go, but he drove off with Miss Grayson while she screamed.

There were bruises and gravel marks on her knees, evidence, officers said, that she had knelt on a country road and begged for her life. Apparently she was garroted with her braided leather belt, the only article of her clothing missing.

Authorities theorized that he carried the body in his automobile to the cemetery, a mile west of Chandler. The cemetery is concealed by high shrubbery and trees.

Dr. J. W. Adams told a coroner's jury that she had been strangled and her neck broken, and her head, nose and mouth had been bruised.

The dead girl's father, Ed Grayson, radio mechanic at Stroud, Okla., believes his daughter was killed by someone she knew.

AWAITS ORDER

District Attorney Gets Complaint Civil Liberties Violated.

CLEVELAND—(U.P.)—U. S. District Attorney Emerich B. Freed awaited instructions today from the department of justice on a request to investigate whether there had been a violation of civil liberties of 32 pickets arrested at the U. S. Gypsum plant at Gypsum.

Edward Lambd, counsel for the Congress of Industrial organizations in Ohio, charged that constitutional rights of the pickets were infringed when a posse of sheriff's deputies rushed the picket line and arrested 32 men Saturday.

ILLNESS OF 3 MONTHS FATAL

John N. Minesinger, 39, Dies at Home Near Ashland.

ASHLAND — Following an illness of the past three months, John N. Minesinger, 39, of near Ashland, died early today in Good Samaritan hospital.

Born Dec. 18, 1901 in Corning, O., he had been a resident of Ashland county for the past 30 years.

Surviving are his widow, Blanche; a daughter, Joan; his mother, Mrs. Ora Beard, Ashland, and two brothers, Oliver, Denison, Texas, and Clarence, Ashland.

The body was removed to the Benbow-Bear funeral home pending funeral arrangements.

GIVES APPROVAL

Bricker O. K.'s Plan to Raise USO Funds Through Theaters.

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— Gov. John W. Bricker today expressed approval of a drive, scheduled to begin Labor day, by Ohio theaters for funds for the United Service organizations.

In a letter to P. J. Wood, secretary of the Independent Theater Owners of Ohio, Governor Bricker said: "I am particularly hopeful that all Ohio theater owners will lend their active support to the movement."

INFANT BURIED TODAY

Burial will be in Bloomingrove cemetery. Surviving besides the parents, are two sisters, Irdela and Shirley.

FOUR APPLY

Bid For Positions In Shelby Police Department.

SHELBY—Four candidates have filed applications to take the civil service examination for the post of junior patrolman on the Shelby police department. The tests will be given at city hall Sept. 8, city officials said.

Selection of the sixth patrolman for the police department will be made by Mayor W. R. Morris from the candidates passing the civil service examination.

City council recently approved employment of an additional patrolman to the department so the force could be put on a 48-hour work week without cutting police protection.

One candidate has filed an application to take the examination for junior fireman's post.

OHIO CHAMBER RECEIVES AWARD

Cited for Taxation Committees and District Councils.

CHICAGO—(U.P.)—The John N. Van Der Vries award for sponsoring the most important commercial organization project in the country was given today to the Ohio Chamber of Commerce by the National Institute of Commercial and Trade Executives meeting at Northwestern university.

The award was made in recognition of the Ohio chamber's district councils and their taxation committees which have been operating in 82 counties in the state for nearly three years.

BACK IN PEN

Convict, 62, Returned After 22-Year Absence.

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — After 22 years of freedom, Leslie Burgermeister, 62, is back in Ohio penitentiary today. Warden Frank C. Henderson said Burgermeister, arrested in Manchester, Ind., admitted escaping from the Junction City brick plant in 1919.

Warden Henderson said he would recommend a two-year extension of the man's one to 20-year forgery sentence, imposed in Lucas county.

DEFENSE WORKERS STRIKE

NEWARK—(INS)—Thirty-two of the 63 workers at the Charles E. Schuler Engineering company, holder of defense contracts, went on strike, demanding a pay increase from 70 to 90 cents an hour, improved working conditions, and sole bargaining rights for their AFL union.

Woman Questioned On Where She Got 6-Month-Old Baby

SPRINGFIELD—(INS)—A woman who claimed to be "a victim of her own Christian deed" was held today at the Springfield juvenile detention center while authorities investigated her story of how she came in possession of a six-month-old baby.

The woman, Mrs. Herbert R. Kirby, 41, who said she came from Springfield, Mo., to visit her busdriver husband, called police yesterday and told them the following story:

En route to Ohio, she stopped at some small town—where she did not recall—to eat at a resturant. When she came out, the baby was on the seat of her coupe.

When taken to the juvenile detention home and questioned by Mrs. Olice L. Stewart, chief probation officer, she became hysterical, admitted her first story was false, and then asserted, authorities said, that the child was left with her by two young hitch-hikers she had picked up at East St. Louis.

NEW YORK — (The Special News Service)—Lou Little of Columbia and Hooks Mylin of Lafayette, profs at Clair Bee's Eastern Coaching school, are warning their pupils to lay off the "T" formation. They think it takes too much time and too good material for the average college or high school coach to develop during one season.

SEEING DOUBLE

Xavier U. at Cincinnati should be at least two deep this football season . . . Head Coach Clem Crowe will be assisted by his brother Emmett. The squad includes twin brothers, Robert and Richard Heister, who play center and quarterback. The schedule opens with Georgetown (Kentucky) and closes with Georgetown (D. C.) and, to complete the roundup, two jubilees of the Jesuit order will be celebrated during the Centennial Day game Nov. 29.

WHY GOLFERS GET GOOFY

Fred Fiore, former N.Y.U. footballer, really got himself out on a limb in a golf match the other day. Texas Boxers Draw Bans 175 Suspensions Mark Lone Star Record.

By BILL VAN DYKE

DALLAS, Tex. — (INS) — Boxing fans who have often wondered why the southwest, and especially Texas, didn't have more fistic cards to offer, probably would get a good idea by examining the state labor statistics boxing bulletin.

* * *

At first glance, it appears that all the boxers are suspended, or their managers and seconds are.

At present, the state of Texas recognizes 175 suspensions, and all but three of these are for indefinite or permanent standings. Two Texas fighters, among the 18 Texans suspended, are holding two of the short suspensions.

Pete Sanchez drew a 30-day suspension, and Jack Larkin a 90-day ban in May and June of this year. The other fighter is Gunnar Barlund, the Durable Finn who got a year's suspension slapped on him in Illinois in April.

One would think that Texas would be able to stress more fight cards with so few fighters affected, but the truth is Texas just doesn't have many fighters- professional fighters

During the month of June 12 bouts were fought, a far smaller number than in many other states of less size.

New Jersey, long a fight stronghold, probably exceeds that number many times. New Jersey without a doubt has more inactive fighters than that, for 80 of the fighters whose suspensions are recognized in Texas are from New Jersey.

Nine promoters are under the ban, three from Texas, and the only two matchmakers listed on the suspended list are also from the Lone Star state.

Paul Damski is perhaps the best known of the 17 managers not allowed to work in Texas, having received his suspension along with his fighter Gunnar Barlund last April 14. Damski is only under a year's enforced idleness, however, while all the other managers are either permanently or indefinitely suspended.

The influx of soldiers in many Texas army camps has been hailed as perhaps one of the springboards by which fighting may increase in popularity in the state.

Pup Thomas, energetic west Texas promoter, in billing his Tony Galento-King Levinsky "Battle of Bums," admitted freely no one would like the fight, but also stated the soldiers from nearby Camp Barkeley would make up a large portion of his crowd.

All of the soldiers like fights; they like to watch bouts in their own camps but maneuvers keep soldiers too tired for fisticuffs and some sports experts are predicting professional boxing will gain a stronghold for that reason.

If the soldiers can't do it they will go to see it done, the boys figure.

Indians Drop 6th In Row

Senators Climb Out of Cellar With Victory.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The faltering Indians sunk into fourth place today in their skid down the American league ladder, a 4 to 2 nocturnal defeat by Washington turning the trick.

Boston, rained out in St. Louis in the third. The following a half game.

Last night's defeat was the 13th in the last 14 games for the Tribe and the sixth in a row. The humiliation was shared by only 8,365 fans, smallest crowd ever to see a night game here.

* * *

Steve Gromek, rookie right-hander purchased from Flint of the Michigan State league last week, gave up seven hits and four runs in the first four innings. Harry Eisenstat pitched two-hit ball the rest of the distance.

* * *

Despite the pounding, Gromek made a good impression in his debut. He fanned six batters and one of the tallies was earned.

Steve Sundra, Cleveland sandlot graduate, limited the weak-hitting Redskins to seven blows and was seldom in serious trouble.

Ken Keltner smashed his 19th home run of the season in the second and Eisenstat's double and Clarence Campbell's single produced the other Cleveland tally in the seventh.

* * *

A double and two singles plus two walks gave Washington three runs in the third. The following inning Campbell misjudged George Case's drive into a triple and Rog Cramer scored his fellow outfielder with a long fly.

The encouraged Senators, who climbed out of the cellar with the victory, nominated Southpaw Ken Chase to stop the Indians today.

Manager Roger Peckinpaugh called on Chubby Dean.

The Brooklyn Dodgers succeeded in inflating their suddenly-acquired National league lead to a full game by defeating the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-5, but they probably would have instilled more confidence among their followers if they also had taken the day off.

Brooklyn's often-praised infield made six errors and gave the Pirates four unearned runs, which nearly cost the ball game, but Joe Medwick's circuit smash and Peter Reiser's triple with two men on base in the early innings kept disaster away from Ebbets field.

The defeat was Pittsburgh's sixth in eight encounters and bumped the Buccaneers out of third place in the senior circuit as the Cincinnati Reds came up with a double-decker triumph over the Phillies.

The Reds won the opener, 13-5, then came from behind with a four-run seventh-inning rally to capture the second session 5-4.

New York's in and out Giants tumbled the tottering Chicago Cubs in both ends of a double-header, 6-1 and 7-1, for Chicago's 15th setback in 20 games.

TAKES THREE FIRSTS IN RIFLE MATCHES

L. A. Arntz of Mansfield, director of the .30 caliber division of the Ohio Rifle and Pistol association took three firsts and two thirds at a district O.R.P. meet held in Akron Sunday.

Arntz took the 300 yards decimal standing fire and aggregate total matches as well as the free rifle match with any sights. He copped third in off-hand and rapid fire matches.

Parker Hall Carries The Mail In Practice

As Parker Hall, ace back of the Cleveland Rams in the National Professional Football league, cuts through a hole in the line during one of the team's first scrimmages at its Berea, O., training camp, Center Jack Haman, on hands and knees in foreground, seems to be getting it from both ends! Hall is treading—not lightly—on his foot and another linesman is booting him in the face. Well, that's football.

Players Move To Semi-Finals

Lone Upset Marks Westbrook Golf Joust.

The Westbrook Country club golf championship play moved into the semi-final rounds of the tourney marked by only one upset as favored players ran true to form.

Howard Sotzen defeated Bob Kelley in a first flight match play reverse to take a place in the semi-final round, scheduled to be completed Sunday.

Other results were: M. M. Feaman defeated Ed Eisele; Dr Dean M. Leuthner defeated Ephriam Brown; G. E. Kalbfleisch defeated Wesley Carr; Milo Hiebel defaulted to William Black, Stanley Fisher defaulted to Lou Wenger; Bert Haley defeated James Hagerty, jr.; and Chester Eisenberger defeated James Hoffman.

Tribe's Rookie Ex-Red Sox Short

Steve Gromek, Cleveland rookie pitcher who hurled against the Senators last night, was a star member of the Mansfield Red Sox pennant winning club in 1937.

The former Mansfielder played shortstop for the club and played it well enough to be a member of the leagues all-star team of that year.

Gromek was recently purchased by the Indians from Flint, Mich., where he had turned 14 wins this season as a pitcher.

He turned to pitching following an injury which threatened the end of his career in 1940.

Marva Halts Joe's Plans

Title Defense Training Checked By Court.

CHICAGO—(AP)—Joe Louis had hoped to be en route east today to train for his heavyweight title defense next month; instead, he was here for another round of a divorce court battle.

* * *

A master in Chancery was hearing testimony from him and his wife, the former Marva Trotter, to determine how much temporary alimony she should receive pending trial of her suit for divorce. Louis denied her allegation of cruelty.

* * *

Mrs. Louis testified yesterday about $15,000 a year was spent in maintaining her position as wife of the world's boxing champion.

She said the upkeep of their home and automobile, medical expenses, musical education, recreation, entertainment of friends and travel cost about $1,300 or $1,400 a month. She said her clothing averaged $500 a month.

* * *

Louis estimated his annual average net income for the last seven years at $56,000 and said he made about $51,000 so far this year. For five years, he said, he told his wife he couldn't afford to pay bills of $4,000 to $6,000 a year plus as much as $4,000 for her clothing, yet he bought her an automobile each year, a diamond bracelet and diamond watch for Christmas and gave her other gifts.

Louis will meet Nova in New York Sept. 19.

Call To Service Fails To Upset Eastern Grid Sked

By BILL BONI

NEW YORK —(AP)— Despite selective service, voluntary enlistment and job openings in defense industries, this fall's eastern college football program is expected to go off without a hitch and with a very probable boom in attendance, notably in areas where there is considerable defense production under way.

A survey of some 30 leading eastern schools shows that none has lost more than one or two key men. In the majority of cases the lads either are under draft age, as at Cornell, where sophomores will carry most of the burden this season, or have been deferred. At Princeton seven of the 16 youngsters of draft age, including Captain Bob Peters of Kingsport, Tenn., were deferred because they were taking advanced R.O.T.C. training and another got occupational deferment as a chemistry student.

There will, however, be a few gaps in the ranks. Penn has lost its only experienced fullback, Ed Allen, who is at the Augusta (Ga.) air base. West Virginia's Kenny Fryer, who was rated 50 per cent of the team's offense in spring training, was inducted a few weeks ago.

Fordham and Boston college, expected to be among the east's best, have lost three reserves and one regular, respectively.

With so few defections from the lists of players who were counted on in spring training plans, eastern coaches and athletic directors have given little thought to the question of making freshmen eligible for varsity competition. They agree another year may make a difference.

Princeton, Duquesne, Rutgers and Georgetown are opposed to playing freshmen on principle, though Rutgers' first-game opponent, little Alfred university, will play them. Georgetown officials feel that if such a step is taken it should be done by agreement between two colleges for one game only.

Since in the majority of cases schedules have been made up for at least two and as many as five years in advance, the business offices expect no changes in this respect at least for this year, with the exception of games with Army teams such as the one Rutgers has scheduled with Fort Dix.

* * *

The Army's chances, on the other hand, should improve. There has been no shortening of the West Point curriculum and won't be if academy authorities can help it. What's more, the academy's outdated physical restrictions have been revised effective this year, and the bigger and better 1942 plebes will be ready for varsity service in 1942.

Kansas City's Hopes Fade

Drop Opener To League Leading Red Birds.

(By Associated Press)

Kansas City's hopes of finishing on top of the American association for the third successive year were reduced almost to the vanishing point today.

The Blues played host to Columbus last night in the opening game of the final series of the year between the teams, and the Red Birds, already holding a seven and a half game margin over the third place home club, came off with an 8 to 4 victory.

* * *

Big John Grodzicki, the league's top regular pitcher, held the Blues to seven hits as he achieved his 14th victory. Max Marshall drove in three runs with a triple and a home run in four official times at bat for Columbus. Harry Walker was credited with three hits in four times up and drove in two runs.

The loss dropped Kansas City to fourth place as Minneapolis triumphed over Indianapolis, 3 to 2.

The other four teams were not scheduled.

City News Gridders Start Practice

Mansfield's first football practice will be held today at 6 p. m. as the City News Athletic association gridders don their moleskins for the opening practice session at Tappan's field.

The practice session follows a meeting of the group at the City News Sunday which found the following men present: E. Dials, Sturgeon, G. Bucher, Russell, Zediker, K. Lockhart, Harper, Au, Luckie, Clement, Beer, Lehman and Radovich.

Mansfielders interested in joining the opening session are invited to be present.

The meeting will be held at the Armory field if the Tappan grounds are in use.

RAIN CHECKS SHELBY SOFTBALL SCHEDULE

SHELBY—The postponed game scheduled between the Shelby Cycle company and Plymouth Merchants Monday night in the Shelby Softball league was postponed again because of inclement weather. The game is set for Wednesday.

The Tube company will play the Shelby Salesbook company at 6:15 p. m. today at municipal water company field on North Gamble street in the second of the two remaining postponed games on the second round league schedule.

FREMONT LOSES RYAN

FREMONT, O.—(INS)—Due to a mistake of his draft board in exempting him from army duty, Jack Ryan, athletic coach at St. Charles high school, Columbus, will be unable to accept a job as assistant football and head basketball coach at St. Joseph's high, Fremont, the Rev. Albert Sprenger, principal, announced today.

BASEBALL SCHOOL SET

COLUMBUS—(INS)—The annual baseball school of the Columbus Red Birds and the St. Louis Cardinals will be held at the Red Bird stadium Aug. 28, 29 and 30, officials of the AA club announced today.

MACK'S 'DREAM INFIELD' STILL IN BALL GAME

PHILADELPHIA—(INS)— While many of the great baseball stars step from the diamond into business or into retirement to live off their invested baseball earnings, four of the all-time scintillants, who made up the $100,000 "dream" infield of Connie Mack's old Philadelphia Athletics, are still in the game.

First Baseman Stuffy McInnis is baseball coach at Norwich university; Second Baseman Eddie Collins is general manager of the Boston Red Sox; Shortstop Jack Barry is coach at Holy Cross, and Frank (Home Run) Baker heads the Easton club of the Eastern Shore league.

CHAMPIONSHIP WHIPPETS BOOK FIRST MEETING

SHELBY—Plans for the opening football drills of the Shelby High school Whippets Wednesday will be made at a meeting of the football candidates to be held at 7 p. m. today in the high school building.

Fight Results

CHICAGO — Nick Castiglione, 138¼, Chicago, knocked out Joe Ghnouly, 134¾, Hammond, Ind., (1).

Steeplechase racing will be headlined during the Saratoga summer meeting July 28 to Aug. 30, with five jumping contests a week on the program, topped by four of the oldest and sportiest stakes in the country.

FREDDIE POPE ADDS TO LONG WINNING STREAK

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — (AP) — Freddie Pope of Columbus, O., scored his 44th consecutive victory by knocking out Freddy Kramer of Middletown, O., in the fourth round of a scheduled 10-round bout here last night. Pope, who weighed 118½, floored Kramer twice before knocking him out in the fourth. The Middletown battler weighed in at 120.

Champs Defend Crowns

Victors Named In Five Events at Vandalia.

VANDALIA, O.—(AP)—Three of the nation's niftiest trap shooters stepped up to the quarter-mile firing line today to defend their North American clay target championships as the Grand American program roared in to its second day.

* * *

The terrific trio, women's Champion Mrs. Lela Hall of Strasburg, Mo., amateur Champion Forest McNeir of Houston, Tex., and professional Champion Fred Tomlin of Glassboro, N. J., were even choices to finish in front of a field expected to reach 600 or more.

Here's why.

Mrs. Hall is regarded as the deadliest feminine shot with a scattergun the world ever has seen. In the last six years she has won the women's championship five times, and did not compete on the other occasion. She has finished third in the Grand American handicap against the best male stars in the game, and once she defeated nine men in a shoot off to win the National Class A championship.

McNeir, 66-year-old contractor, holds the Carnegie gold medal for heroism, won in 1913. Several years ago he suffered a broken back and lost his left hand in an accident, but he had the hand, minus two or three inches of arm, grafted back in place, and he wears a leather corset to support his back. Last year, despite the handicaps, he broke 200 targets in a row, the only perfect count of the tourney over that distance, to annex the North American title.

Tomlin, a professional hot-shot for years, holds the professional long run record of 714 at 16-yard targets, and he's going strong.

* * *

In yesterday's events, disrupted several times by heavy rains, five new champions were named.

With their scores, they were:

Veteran — Charles (Sparrow) Young, Springfield, O., 99 of 100.

Junior—Ray Fienup, St. Louis, Mo., 98 of 100.

Sub-Junior — Bobbie Stifal, Casey, Ill., 97 of 100.

Father-Son—W. F. Fienup and Ray Fienup, St. Louis, 197 of 200.

Husband and Wife—Dr. and Mrs. E. Roose, Salem, O., 194 of 200.

Fostoria Scores Four As Braves Let Down

Twelve Braves Stranded On Bases as Third Place Club Wins

The Mansfield Braves had one bad inning last night at the Fairground, and when it was all over the Fostoria Red Birds had pushed across four runs, and in spite of the Braves' belated later efforts were able to hang up a 7-4 win.

A passed ball, and five singles aided by three errors on the part of the Braves gave the Red Birds four runs in the fifth, which, added to three they had pushed across earlier in the fray, was enough to handcuff the Mansfield club.

Not without a ray of light, however, was last night's loss, for all other games in the league were rained out and in spite of the Birds victory the Braves still clung to the second spot five and one-half games out of the first spot.

Mansfield scored in the second on a single by Bill Salem who was plated by Alex Clowson's rousing double.

The Braves counted again in the seventh on a single by Freddie Wolpert and a double by Tim Mangen, while the last two tallies came in the eighth with Clowson delivering a single and Dick Morse crashed through with the only homer of the fray to bring the Braves' total to four. The game ended without further scoring.

Wolpert held the Birds to nine bingles while the Braves were jumping on Dusseau for 14 safe ones, but a total of seven errors in the fields did little to help the Braves cause.

* * *

Clowson, Morse, Mangan and Siegbert all connected for good two baggers, Siegbert however, getting in the heavy work with three out of five.

* * *

In addition to showing some laxity afield last night the Braves just couldn't seem to get runners off of the bases.

Twelve of the Braves died on the field. The Red Birds left seven stranded on the bases.

The Braves tonight will tangle with Findlay there.

FORT CUSTER, Mich.—(U.P.)—Corporal Hank Greneberg of the United States army may rejoin the Detroit Tigers this season as a regular outfielder.

Possibility that the $55,000-a-year former Tiger star may leave the army was admitted by Capt. Glenn A. Sikes as an aftermath of President Roosevelt's signing of the bill deferring all draft eligibles who are 28 or over yesterday.

The new law says the secretary of war must dismiss from the army all draftees who reached 28 on or before July 1 of this year. However, the draftees must apply for such discharge and the secretary is required to dismiss them "as soon as practicable and when not in conflict with the interests of national defense."

Greenberg is 30 and the bill permits him to apply for discharge. Sikes admitted that Greenberg had conferred with him regarding release from his military duties but declined to reveal what Hank planned to do. He stated definitely, however, that the former baseballer had not made formal petition for release.

"If he does," Sikes said, "I'll approve the petition immediately."

JAC Sponsors Benefit Tilt

Braves Meet Fremont In Activity Fund Game.

A benefit ball game, sponsored by the Junior Association of Commerce will be held at the Fairground between the Mansfield Braves and the league-leading Fremont Green Sox Tuesday, Aug. 26, it was announced today.

The money raised will be used for further welfare activities of the JAC.

Tickets for the fray are now on sale by JAC members. Tickets will also be on sale at the gate where the park's regular prices prevail.

The money raised from the game will go towards such JAC activities as "Give a Christmas," going away parties for soldiers, the JAC Friendly House fund and other similar projects.

Guests of the JAC at the game will be children from the Children's Home.

PAUL BROWN PUPIL OF MICHIGAN'S CRISLER

CHICAGO —(AP)—Fritz Crisler, head football coach at Michigan and an instructor at the Northwestern summer coaching school, has Paul Brown, new head coach at Ohio State, as a pupil.

Michigan defeated Ohio State 40 to 0 last year—but at that time Brown was the coach at the Massillon, O., high school. The two teams will meet this year Nov. 22 at Ann Arbor.

CHAPTER VIII

Gay was waiting up for April when she got home, lying on the divan reading. She had been too excited and curious to go to bed.

April said surprised: "What on earth are you doing up at this ungodly hour? It's two o'clock. Do you really have a headache?"

"Sure," Gay grinned. "But I'm all over it now."

She searched April's face for a sign of what her answer to Curt DeWitt had been, but could read nothing from April's expression. Suddenly April said:

"Curt asked me to marry him tonight, Gay."

Gay sat up swiftly. "Yes! You told him yes of course."

April sighed, dropping her evening wrap and sitting down in the big chair near her old friend.

"No I didn't say yes. Naturally I wouldn't do that."

Gay looked disappointed. "Surely you didn't turn a man like Curt DeWitt down! April you're crazy."

"But why should I say I'll marry him when the very thought of marrying turns my blood cold. You know what I've been through."

Gay said impatiently: "Don't dramatize things so! Just because you married an immature boy the first time, and had to break it up because you couldn't be the man of the family any longer, why should you think you couldn't make a go of it with a man who could give you anything in the world?"

"There's more to marriage," April said seriously, "than material security."

"Not much!" Gay's green eyes snapped. "I'd like to see myself with your chance, turning down a man like Curt DeWitt. He not only has money but he's kind and considerate and handsome. Why he's got everything a woman could possibly look for in a husband!"

"You wouldn't say that," April smiled tolerantly at her disturbed friend, "if you'd ever been married for love."

"Bah!" Gay exploded. "A lot of good it did you, that puppy love stuff! It just got you two children to look after: A childish husband and a son!"

When April's face clouded Gay added hurriedly:

"Oh, honey, I don't mean to criticize Hill or hurt your feelings. I know he could charm a bird off tree. And he's got some wonderful qualities. But I just get furious when I think how you have struggled and worried, and that here is a millionaire at your feet and you let your love for Hill stand in the way. That's all over. You're living in the past.

"You're so silly to be prejudiced against marriage, just because your first one didn't turn out right. It's so darned old fashioned to make a martyr out of yourself. You're young and beautiful and you can't stop living and loving just because your first marriage didn't jell. I could shake you for being such a nitwit. I wouldn't urge you to marry Curt if he weren't such a fine person. But he is. He's a saint! He'd carry you around on a pillow the rest of your life. And he'd be a wonderful father to Kenny."

April smiled uncertainly: "You're doing a very good job of selling him to me. You almost make me believe I should take a chance on seeing how it would work out."

Gay said excitedly: "Are you really weakening? You are very fond of him?"

"Of course I am," April admitted. "I adore him. He's one of the nicest people I've ever known."

"Then I can't see there's anything stopping you," Gay sat back on the divan, relieved. "Tell me," she asked then "has he ever kissed you?"

April looked surprised that Gay had asked her such a personal question.

"I know it's none of my business," Gay shrugged. "But I just wanted to know if you'd made any effort to find out if he appealed to you. You're such an old maid!"

April flushed slightly. "He kissed me tonight for the first time."

"Did you like it?" Gay raised her auburn eye brows inquisitively. "Curt isn't so hard to take is he?"

April laughed uncertainly:

"I'm sure I could tolerate his kisses, if you must know the truth. But that doesn't mean I'll marry him. I'd want to fall in love again, silly as it may sound to you. And I don't believe I ever could."

"I give up!" Gay threw up her hands. "You certainly don't belong in this country, Priscilla. Well, go ahead, get your security the hard way. If you'd rather be a singer on the radio than the wife of a millionaire, it's your life. I've no doubt that you'll be a big success on the air. I imagine Curt would be very happy to have you continue with your career, if that's what's standing in your way."

"No my darling," April smiled, getting up. "That's a little matter that could be taken care of very nicely. I just want to fall in love again, before I marry."

"Sap!" Gay called to her as she disappeared through the door to her room. "But I do love you for it," she said under her breath, getting up to go to her own bed.

At least Gay felt she had done everything she could to keep her promise to Curt DeWitt. Now the rest was in the lap of the gods, and there was always hope that a woman would change her mind any minute.

When April arrived home from her broadcast the next evening, Pat Hastings was sitting in the living room. She kissed him and told him how glad she was to see him.

"You don't know how hard it has been for me to keep my promise to you so long," Pat said miserably. "I just about died to see Cherry. How is she, and what is she doing? Isn't she tired of all the rumpus yet?"

April decided to be perfectly frank with him. His face seemed thinner and had a look of discouragement that moved her deeply. But she could see no use in giving him any hope."

April said: "You must be hungry, Pat. I am. Come in the kitchen and we'll make sandwiches and coffee and talk."

Pat sat down listlessly on the tall stool near the kitchen sink: "Tell me the worst."

"I don't see much of Sis," she looked in the ice box for lettuce and tomatoes and some of the roast beef left over from dinner. "She keeps pretty busy. During the day she models at Madame Georgette's and evenings she goes places. She just comes home to sleep."

"At least she does come home to sleep," Pat sighed. "That's something."

"Oh, yes," April said quickly, "Cherry lives here."

They were eating their sandwiches and drinking coffee when April heard the front door open. She caught her breath: "Why that must be Cherry now!"

Pat's face whitened: "Do you really think so?"

"Cherry?" April called. "Is that you?"

Cherry appeared in the doorway: "Yes! Believe it or not—."

When she saw Pat her pansy eyes widened with amazement:

"Pat!" she exclaimed, "What are you doing here?"

Pat stood up and held out his arms.

"Just visitin' April on my way through to Chicago on business," he said untruthfully. "Don't the visitin' fireman get a little kiss?"

Cherry hesitated, then went over and kissed him quickly on the cheek.

"Well, it's nice seeing you again," she said politely. "How is everything in Salem?"

"Just fine," Pat replied making an effort to match her nonchalance.

April got up from the table.

"I'm so tired I've just got to get some rest, Cherry," she picked up her sandwich. "You take my place and visit with Pat."

Cherry gave April a warning glance which her older sister totally ignored. April smiled at Pat.

"I'll see you later, Pat. Let me know before you go. Wake me up if I'm asleep."

When she closed the door behind her Cherry said coolly:

"I guess I'll have a sandwich too Well, what's the news?"

Pat stared at the girl he loved so dearly out of dark hurt eyes. Then he begged unhappily:

"Let's not put on a show, Cherry. I'm not on my way to Chicago and you know it. I came because I couldn't stay away from you any longer. I want to know if you're ever going to come back home."

* * *

Cherry was not the fresh looking simply tailored girl Pat had loved since she was in pig tails. She was in a close fitting sophisticated gown that she had bought at Georgette's, and the pearls she wore in a heavy strand around her neck were the only touch of color to relieve the severe black of her costume.

Her eyes were tired, and Pat thought she looked at least two years older than when she left home. Cherry saw his close look and dropped her eyes to the sandwich she was preparing.

"You'd no right to come here, Pat," she said sullenly. "You know I told you when I left home we were through. What I said still goes."

Pat's jaw hardened: "You mean all that stuff about not believing in love in a cottage. That rot about if a man leaves you holding the bag it's got to be filled with a lot of filthy lucre."

"That's right," Cherry raised her chin.

Pat pushed back his sandwich and stood up.

"So that's the way you still feel, is it?"

"Exactly," the bread knife slipped and Cherry almost cut her finger. "I'm having a wonderful time. And I'm certainly not going to give up all the grand times I have in New York and all my wealthy friends who have the money to show me good times, to live in a little tank town in Virginia. I'm much too smart for that!"

Doolittle Family To Celebrate 300 Years At Reunion

The Doolittle family, with a number of representatives in Mansfield, will celebrate 300 years in America with its biennial reunion Thursday and Friday in Wallingford, Conn.

The Richland county Doolittle's, descendants of Capt. L. O. Doolittle who served through the Civil war, hold their own annual reunion which is attended by more than 50 members of the family in this section of the state. This year's session was held Sunday in Hayesville. None of the Doolittles here plan to attend the reunion in Connecticut.

Members of the family in Richland county and throughout the nation are estimated at 11,000. They trace their ancestry back to Abraham and John Doolittle who came to America in 1641 from Great Britain.

The name is believed to be a contraction of the surname, de L'Hotel, or Dolieta, an aide of William the Conqueror when he landed in England in 1066.

STOCK MARKET STRUCK BY MILD SELLING WAVE

War News, Far East Condition Blamed For Timidity In Today's Bidding.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—The stock market encountered mild selling opposition in today's transactions although scattered leaders managed to add fractions to Monday's rally. Hesitancy developed at the start in sluggish dealings.

Bidding timidity in the stock list was blamed partly on the somewhat more pessimistic German-Russian war bulletins and the widening rift between the United States and Japan. The domestic tax outlook remained as an offset to hopeful business items.

Boardrooms found further confirmation of the industrial push in the federal reserve compilation disclosing business loans of member banks in 101 cities for the week ended Aug. 13 increased for the sixteenth consecutive week.

Notice was taken of agricultural department forecasts that a continued rise in demand for farm products was likely over the remainder of the year but at a slower rate than during the first six months.

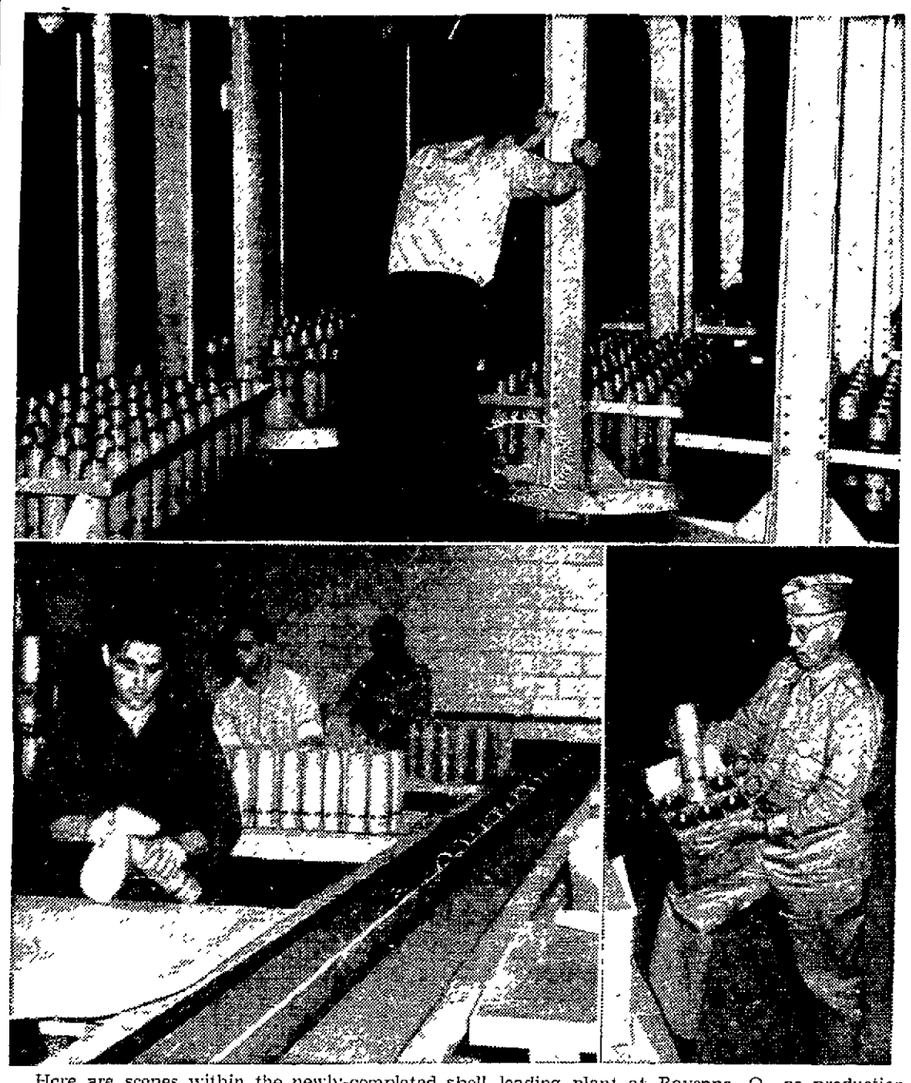
*Odd lots.

Is your child a NOSE PICKER?

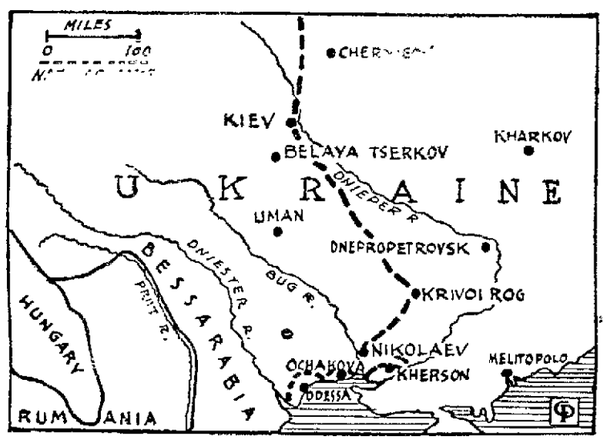
It may be more than just a nasty habit! It may be a sign of worms. Yes, ugly, crawling roundworms inside your child! Other warning signs are fidgeting, "picky" appetite, crankiness, itching in certain parts. Roundworms can cause real trouble! If you even suspect your child has them, get Jayne's Vermifuge right away! Jayne's is America's best known proprietary worm medicine, scientifically tested and used by millions for over a century. It expels stubborn worms, yet acts very gently. If no worms are there, Jayne's acts merely as a mild laxative. Be sure you get Jayne's Vermifuge.

Ravenna Plant Begins To Turn Out Shells



Here are scenes within the newly-completed shell loading plant at Ravenna, O., as production began on 75-mm. supercharged shells, now urgently needed by the U. S. armed forces. The plant, which will outproduce any shell loading factory in the world, occupies 21,000 acres, cost $46,000,000 to build and was completed in 11 months under the spur of defense needs. The photo at top shows the overhead rail system which speeds the shells through the various manufacturing processes. Photo at bottom, left, shows workers handling shells during assembly. An army officer at right checks a case of shells, one of the first completed.

Nazis Move Through Ukraine



The present line of combat between Russian armies and attacking German troops is shown above on this Central Press map. Berlin reports say that the immediate objectives of the Nazi drive in the Ukraine are the great American-built Dnieprostri dam, which controls power production and traffic on the lower Dnieper river, and Kherson, gateway to the Crimea.

NAVAL ACADEMY HAS 'DOUGH' BOY

ANNAPOLIS, Md.—(AP)—Plebes (freshmen) at the U. S. Naval Academy here traditionally are required to memorize each day's menu as part of their hazing and must be able to repeat it on request of any upperclassman. Among the midshipmen is one who has turned this state of affairs to account.

He gets the menus ahead of time, has them mimeographed, and sells 'em to plebes in advance at 10 cents a copy. Thus they gain extra time for memorizing them, he gains an extra $25 a week.

QUIZ TRIO IN DISAPPEARANCE

Authorities Again Link Mystery Of Co-ed to Slaying.

STEUBENVILLE —(INS)— Two men and a woman were held in the Jefferson county jail today for questioning in connection with the disappearance more than four years ago of Ruth Baumgardner, a then 22-year-old co-ed at Ohio Wesleyan university, Delaware.

The men were 29 and 37 years old, and the woman was said to be 26—the age Miss Baumgardner would be now.

Sheriff Robert D. Bates was reported to be conferring with Sheriff Elmo Mattern of Harrison county, reviving the belief in some quarters that there was a connection between the disappearance of the Lakewood girl on May 4, 1937, and the murder of Highway Patrolman George Conn near Cadiz that September.

KILLED BY TRAIN

CINCINNATI —(AP)— William Dieringer, 13, of Cumminsville was killed by a Pennsylvania railroad passenger train as he crossed the tracks near his suburban home yesterday.

Roosevelt Calls For Drive Against Traffic Accidents

WASHINGTON —(INS)— President Roosevelt today called upon the people of the nation to join in an intensified campaign against accidents, pointing out that so far this year traffic fatalities have increased 17 per cent above 1940.

In a proclamation urging "a national safety campaign" the president said:

"The nation is confronted with a rapidly rising accident toll. At the present rate, the total number of deaths from accidents this year will exceed 100,000. Traffic accidents alone caused 34,500 deaths in 1940 and thus far in the present year there has been an increase of 17 per cent in traffic fatalities.

"Accidents definitely hinder our national defense effort. To insure maximum efficiency we must have maximum safety twenty-four hours a day—not only at work, but also on the highway, at home and everywhere.

"The troubled times in which we live must not make us callous or indifferent to human suffering. These unusual times require unusual safety efforts."

6 FREE ON BOND IN OHIO PROBE

Men Enter Pleas of Innocent to Gambling Charges at Columbus.

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — Six persons indicted by the Franklin county grand jury along with 71 others on gambling charges were free under bonds today after they pleaded innocent when arraigned before Judge Dana F. Reynolds in county criminal court.

Bonds ranged from $500 to $1,000. No date was set for the trials of William T. Shaw, Glen H. Williams, Louis and John J. Casbarro, John Charie and Louis Lehman, who entered the pleas.

Robert H. Warner, Harold Johnson, Frank Hall, Adam Ehmann, Clarence Swiss, Leo Cianflona, Hymie Bloom and John Greeley, also indicted last Friday, posted bonds for their freedom pending disposition of their cases. They will be arraigned Thursday.

GRAND COULEE GETS COOLING

Water Circulated Through Structure To 'Set' New Concrete.

GRAND COULEE, Wash.—(U.P.)—Engineers at Grand Coulee Dam, Wash., have done in five years what might have taken nature a century to do—cool 10,250,000 cubic yards of concrete.

Newly-placed concrete produces heat which, unless dissipated, causes expansion and contraction which can easily result in serious damage to a structure. At Grand Coulee, the danger was obviated by circulating cold river water through steel tubing imbedded in the dam.

The job required two large pump barges, 2,000 miles of pipe, 2 miles of 3½-foot inspection shafts, nearly six miles of other galleries and shafts—all at a cost estimated at $1,400,000.

The pumping system reduced concrete temperatures from as high as 132 degrees to the uniform required temperature of 45 degrees.

It required 60 to 90 days of cold water circulation to cool the concrete in each section as block after black was pyramided until the dam reached its full height of 550 feet.

Engineers estimate that through ordinary radiation the cooling would have taken a century.

The two barges—one with six pumps, the other with five—pumped cold water out of the Columbia river, circulating it day and night at the rate of four gallons a minute through each of the thin-walled one-inch pipes.
